AMERICAN DRIVER WINS GREAT RACE

Bruce-Brown Takes Grand Prize Event by Narrow Margin at Savannah.

FRENCHMAN COMES IN SECOND

Thrilling Day on the Course—Wagner Badly Injured.—60,000 Spectators.—Great Interest and Excitement.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 12.—The New York boy who four years ago ran away from home to become a driver of racing automobiles, today saved the American drivers from obliteration at the hands of foreigners in the Grand Prize race, the blue ribbon event of automobile contests.

Speeding faster and farther than man ever went before in an automobile road race this young man, David Bruce-Brown, won the grand prize by barely more than a second at the end of 415.2 miles—heart-breaking miles. He flashed across the electric timing wire 1:42 seconds ahead of Victor Hemery, the Frenchman. His time was five hours, 53 minutes and 6.77 seconds, setting a new American road record of 70.55 miles an hour. Both he and Hemery drove Benz cars, so that the foreign machines triumphed over the American made racers. The consolation in having an American at the wheel of the winner was increased by the feat of "Wild Bob" Burman, driving the maddest race of his career in an American car, the Marquette-Buick, which finished third, getting not only third money but an additional thousand dollars for the first American driver to finish in an American car.

Before the race it was said that the American team planned to set a pace in the early stages which would burn the tires off the big foreign machines thereby securing an advantage over them. Apparently the Americans tried this trick and it nearly succeeded for most of the foreigners were either stalled or wrecked on the track before the finish, but the foreigners were too numerous. Two of their cars, the winning Benz machines, still remained on the track at the end of the race. All the other finishers were American cars.

Behind Burman were the derelict cars of some of the world's most famous drivers, who had failed to make their speed machines last through the terrific strain of 240 laps of curving roadways. These foreigners went to defeat gamely and in some instances recklessly.

Wagner in Accident.

Wagner, in his big red Fiat, was one of the grittiest. His daring nearly costing his life and that of his mechanician, Louis Ferro. On the back stretch, while coming down a small hill at top speed, Wagner lost control of his car for the fraction of a second, one of his front wheels striking a stone culvert, crushing the weel and throwing the car on its side for a slide of 50 feet into the trees bordering the speedway. Ferro was literally shot in the top branches of the 20 foot willow, which caught him and broke his fall. He ran to the car beside which Wagner was lying with machine oil poured about him from a broken tank. The great driver got up with the aid of the mechanician and walked to the German Club nearby. Later he was taken to a hospital, where it was reported he was not seriously hurt.

Willie Haupt, one of the Benz drivers, skidded off the road at the end of a long straight-away, side swiped a giant live oak and then side swiped a giant live oak and then plunged with his car and mechanician into a clump of bushes so thick and so tall that they apparently swallowed him, hiding his from view of the breathless spectators. He and H. W. Feyhle, his mechanician, emerged from the woods with reassuring expedition, though somewhat bruised and scratched.

Fifteen Cars in Race.

Fifteen cars started the race. Inside of twenty-miles the three Fiats driven by Wagner, DePalma and Nazzareo and the three Benz cars steered by Hemery, Bruce-Brown and Haupt had left the Americans well behind. Hemery took the lead at about 30 miles and held it until the 140th mile, when a change of tires at the pits allowed four of the other foreign cars to rush past him.

Meanwhile Nazzarre, holder of the world's road record of about seventy-five miles an hour, was doing the fastest laps of the day in an effort to catch Hemery. Nazzarre's best time for a single lap was 13.32, which was at the rate of 76.71 miles an hour. For over a hundred miles he laid out the pace when Wagner took the lead for about 40 miles, but lost it in filling his oil and gasoline tanks at the pits.

When the 200 mile mark was well in the rear and the race more than half over, these big cars were still bunched and going some of the most thrilling driving in the annals of automobile racing.

A scant three minutes at times separated the first four or five, seconds only marked the difference in some of their laps. The drivers caught the inflection and opened their speed levers wider and the flying wheels at last refused to stay on the track at

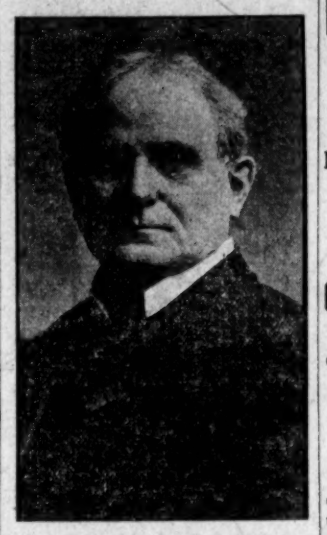
THE NEXT SPEAKER.



Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Many newspapers opposed to Democracy are engaged in an effort to make it appear that the Democrats of the next House are preparing to row over the speakership. These stories are wide of the actual facts. There is no fight on Champ Clark for the speakership, and he will be elected unanimously or practically so when the Democratic caucus assembles to name a candidate.

HIS BODY FOUND IN A MARSH

Bullet Hole Through Head and Evidences That Indian Man Had Been Robbed and Killed—Labor Leader.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 12.—With a bullet hole through the head, the body of Ray Mason, vice-president of the National Horseshoers' Protective Association, residing in Kalamazoo, Mich., was found in a marsh on the outskirts of this city today.

The body evidently had been in the marsh for more than a week. That Mason had been the victim of hold-up men and had been killed and dragged to the marsh in an effort to conceal the crime is the theory of detectives who have been investigating the case.

Mason was the owner of considerable property in Union City, Ind., 100 miles south of Warsaw, and it is believed he was on his way from Kalamazoo to that city when murdered.

A revolver with which it is believed Mason was killed, was found near the body. It was smeared with blood. No blood stains could be found near the body but evidences that the man had been dragged along the ground could be discerned.

The purse of Mason was found in the pockets empty. A brother of Mason, who arrived here today, said the labor official had considerable money in his possession when last seen. He said that there was no reason for suicide and he knew of no enemies of his brother.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW.

New York, Nov. 12.—Disqualification of one of the three entrants and a protest against the winner marked the coach road race of four in hands from Arrow Head Inn in the Bronx to Madison Square Garden this afternoon, a contest held in connection with the opening of the 26th National Horse Show.

Paul A. Sorg, swept in first in new record time of 26 minutes, 37 seconds, but J. H. Coutler, driving the Ayrshire Farm entry, which was second, protested that William Grant, driving the Sirg entry, did not handle the reins of Sorg's team during the entire nine miles of the trip, but alternated with Frank E. Palmer, an invited guest. Grant and Palmer both denied the charge and were borne out by the official representative of the National Association on the Soag coach. While this controversy was being waged the association representative abroad the Coulter coach reported that Morris E. Howlett, winner of the race two years ago had alternated with Coulter in handling the reins on the Ayrshire coach. As this protest was official the entry was disqualified and Alfred Vanderbilt, who finished third, jumped to second place. Coulter's protest against the winner, was referred to the secretary for official action.

Sorg's winning team was made up of the horses Queen of The Road, Tom Mountain, Brother Jack, and Trip The Gutter. Vanderbilt drove Middletown Belle, Roanoke, Lacy Golightly and Bertha. Each coach carried seven passengers.

The cup must be won twice by the same exhibitor to become his property.

The horse show opened in Madison Square Garden this afternoon with the customary glamour.

With tonight's session the show took on its accustomed air. Society blossomed forth and the judging began in earnest. Even in the early classes, the high standard of the entries was noticeable, forecasting the fulfillment of advance claims of the most successful show ever held here.

EXPRESS STRIKE SEEMS AT AN END

OTHER DRIVERS REMAIN OUT

Chauffeurs, Cab and Other Drivers Contend for Recognition of Union—Bod Theft of Van and Several Attacks.

New York, Nov. 12.—The strike of drivers and helpers employed by the transcontinental express companies, was formally declared off this evening and it was announced at strike headquarters that the men will return to work on Monday. This will end one of the most serious labor disputes that the metropolitan district has experienced in years.

The close of the strike was brought about by the New Jersey strikers who voted late today to accept the terms upon which the companies offered to take back the men.

The agreement provides that the men shall be taken back without discrimination except for acts of violence during the strike. Each company will take up with its employes the adjustment of wages and hours. Recognition of their union, the chief issue for which the strikers held out for several days, is not granted, however, but the open shop policy is to prevail.

The agreement between the express companies and their employes does not effect the strikes of chauffurs, cab drivers and drivers for department stores, who at first quit work in sympathy with the express employes and later presented demands in their own behalf. Secretary Forster, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, declared tonight that the fight of the chauffeurs and cab drivers will continue until recognition of their union is won.

A bold theft of an express van containing merchandise worth $50,000, and several attacks by mobs on drivers of express and delivery wagons occurred this afternoon giving the police the hardest work they have had for several days in connection with the strike.

Four strike breakers were arrested, charged with the theft of the van which belonged to the Adams Express Company.

THE TELEGRAPH SNARL.

ClaPperson Takes Issue With Clowry as the Policies.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, Nov. 12.—George Clapperton, vice-president of the Commercial Cable Company, being asked in regard to the interview with Col. Clowry, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company relative to the announcement of Commercial Cable Company of reduced cable rates on plain letter messages said "Our five-letter reduction plan is entirely new and entirely different from the old plan mentioned by Col. Clowry and his insinuation as to the Commercial Cable Company attitude is incorrect. The whole history of the Commercial Cable is to the contrary. We are theones who reduced cable rates from 50 cents to 25 cents a word, and after two years and a half We are the ones who reduced cabled to do the same. Colonel Clowry omitted to state that the chief object of the trip to London of Mr. Hall, of the Western Union Telegraph Company and also vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is not the question of rates but to combine all the English companies with the Western Union in opposition to the Commercial Cable Company and might have added that Mr. Vail, the president of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, made a trip to London last Summer for the same purpose."

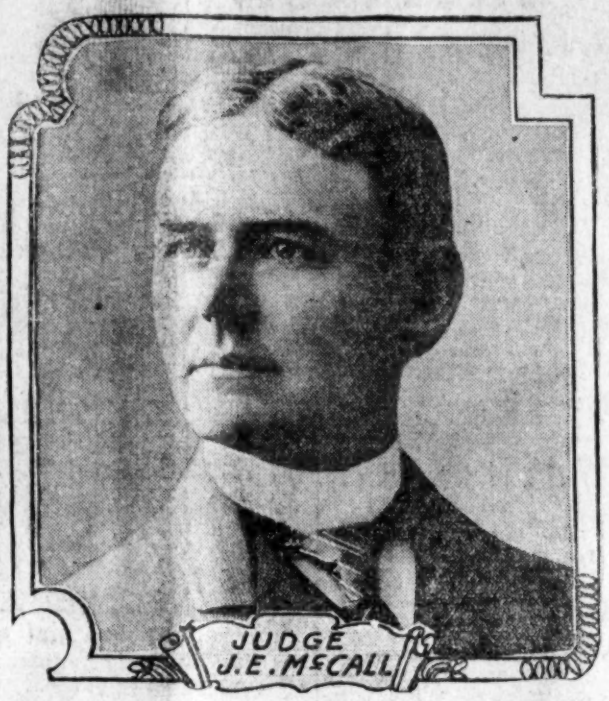
SEA FLIGHT GIVEN UP.

McCurdy Will Not Attempt Aero Trip From Ocean Liner.

New York, Nov. 12.—J. C. (Bud) Mars' of the Curtiss staff, substituted for J. A. D. McCurdy, did not make the proposed 50-mile aeroplane flight from the deck of the Hamberg-American liner Pennsylvania today. An oil can, sucked into the propeller, put the craft out of commission just before the Pennsylvania left her pier, but Mars luck might have been worse bad as it was. When the squalls and black clouds and snow flurries played tag with each other across the lower harbor all afternoon, and as the sun went down the wind rose to 50 miles an hour. Either Mars must have risked his life against heavy odds or have confessed that his task was beyond him.

It was definitely announced tonight that the Hamburg-American line will not attempt the experiment again. The Winter weather is too uncertain and by the time Summer comes again it is probable that the feat will have been proved possible or impossible once for all from the decks of a warship.

May Be Another Landis in Standard Oil Cases



Judge John E. McCall is presiding at the session of the United States Court at Jackson, Tenn., which must decide whether the Standard Oil Co., is rebating on 1,623 counts returned by the grand jury. If the company is found guilty on all the counts it is liable to a fine of over thirty millions.

HIGHWAYMEN SECURE $5,000

Masked Men Held Up Paymaster on Way to Pay Off Men in Massachusetts Construction Camp—Surrounded.

Great Barrington, Mass., Nov. 12.—Three masked highwaymen armed with rifles, secured between $4,000 and $5,000 today through one of the most daring hold-ups ever known in this section of Massachusetts.

The money comprised the payroll for two camps of Italian laborers employed by the Woons Construction Company, on the construction of a new electric car line between Great Barrington and Egremont. The money was carried by the paymaster of the construction company—a man named Hines—who was escorted by Deputy Sheriff Fred Truesdell, and Carlton Robinson, the latter a member of the contracting firm. Paymaster Hines and his escort were walking along the trolley line about two miles from Great Barirngton. As they approached a densely wooded swamp they were confronted by three masked men who levelled rifles at them.

One shot was fired at Hines, but it missed him. The robbers then demanded the money and it was handed over whereupon the robbers disappeared in the thicket.

Within half an hour a posse of 200 armed men were on their way to the scene. The swamp was soon surrounded and tonight the robbers were believed to be trapped.

Chester, S. C., Nov. 12.—Five years in the penitentiary at Columbia, "without labor," was the sentence passed on John Black this morning by Special Judge Ernest Moore. The court overruled a motion for a new trial, after hearing arguments. Notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court was given immediately by counsel for the defendant and bail in the sum of $10,000 was granted to Black, pending the determination of this appeal. The gond was arranged within a few minutes.

EIGHT ARE KILLED IN CRASH

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 12.—Eight persons were killed about 11 o'clock tonight, when a fast Michigan Central express train, running five hours late, hit a Main street car. About a dozen were injured, some fatally.

Four bodies have been removed from the pilot of the engine so badly mangled that recognition is impossible.

Conductor Vern Van Horn had gone on the track to flag his car ahead. Standing near the crossing was a string of box cars. Down the yards a short distance was an engine standing near a water tank. Seeing no train in sight he motioned his car ahead. He had stepped aside to let his car pass when coming around the bend at a terrific rate was the train. The crash came just as VanHorn stepped from between the train and his car. He escaped injury.

SCHENK WILL RECOVER.

Millionaire Packer Who Was Poisoned By His Wife.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 12.—John O. Schenk, the millionaire pork packer, who is alleged to have been poisoned with arsenic will recover, according to his physician, Dr. F. L. Hupp tonight though his recovery will be slow and tedious. Mr. Schenk's condition will enable the prosecution and the attorneys for Mrs. Schenk to agree upon a data for a hearing upon charges against the woman, who is in jail under allegations that she administered or caused to be administered in mineral water the arsenic or poison that caused the illness of her husband. It is now expected that the hearing will be held early next week and the woman wil be admitted to bail. All communication with Mrs. Schenk is forbidden and her attorneys tonight issued a statement denying rumors in circulation that she had made a confession of any wrong doing. Prosecuting Attorney J. B. Handlan, on the other hand, declares he has a strong case against the woman and today asserted Mrs. Schenk was arrested 24 hours earlier than was planned because of a scene she created at the North Wheeling hospital last Wednesday, when she insisted on her husband being removed to their home on Wheeling Island.

BLOODSHED DURING RIOTS IN MEXICO

Anti-American Demonstration Resulted in Death and Injury Yesterday.

AMERICANS TO DESERT HOMES

Preparing to Concentrate in Principal Hotels.—Several Hundreds of Arrests Made.—Effort to Stop Trouble.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Nov. 12.—Carlos B. Carolhers, a locally prominent real estate dealer, shot and killed Joe Liza, a 14 year old Mexican boy, and wounded Prudencio Chavez, a Gendarme, in defending his home against a riotous attack by Mexicans last night.

Carolhers surrendered to the authorities and was lodged in the State penitentiary at midnight. Following a preliminary examination today he Tuesday morning.

Although the entire police force, foot and mounted, and the tenth regiment of cavalry were called out, rioting which began at 8 o'clock in the evening was suppressed only after three hours of vigorous efforts and after considerable additional damage to property had been done. The affair was a continuation of the previous night's violence by students and workmen.

As on Thursday night, the mob traveled rapidly through the business district, hurling rocks through the windows of the American building, many of which had already been demolished and had reached the American residence section when they were overtaken by the soldiers and police.

Carolhers, who said at the police station that he is Mexican born at Saltillo, State of Coahuila, but whose parents were Louisianians, was guarding his home in the western part of the city, the windows and doors of which had been broken in during the first night's rioting, when the mob approached.

At the first alarm he took his family to the roof of the building in safety, he said. From that point of vantage he opened fire with a rifle as the crowd attempted to enter and wreck his home.

The quick action of the police and soldiers prevented the mob from seizing Carolhers and wreaking vengeance upon him. He surrendered and was taken to the penitentiary.

Carolners is a brother of G. C. Carolhers, American consular agent at Torreon, Coahuila.

The property damage last night consisted of demolished windows and store fronts, valued at approximately $1,500.

A number of American families are preparing to abandon their homes in the suburbs and concentrate in the principal hotels. The proprietors of the latter say they are prepared to resist, by force of arms if necessary, any attempt to enter.

The American consulate is guarded tonight by a detachment of the tenth cavalry. The authorities insist that there will be no recurrence of violence, and say that several hundred arrests have been made.

A Stop to Rioting.

Mexico City, Nov. 12.—"There will be no further demonstrations in this city against the citizens of a friendly nation while I am governor. The disturbances are over for good and all and under no circumstances will I permit a mass meeting of any nature by the students, or any other body."

In these words Governor Guillermo Landa Escandon, of the Federal district, gave assurrances in an interview to the press tonight, of a continuance of the quiet which has prevailed for two days following the recent disturbances in this city.

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

Federal Grand Jury Returns True Bill Against Men at Charlotte.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 12.—A Federal grand jury here late today returned a true bill against Joseph Napier, South Carolina; E. Charles Quaster, Baltimore, and Charles Randolph, alias Charles Brown, for alleged violations of the "White Slave Law." Napier was owner of Napier's Four-in-One show, which did business through central Carolina, and is accused of bringing girls from Baltimore to Winston and elsewhere for immoral purposes, also conspiring to bring six from Danville to North Carolina. There are about a dozen counts in the bill charging inducing girls to leave their homes for immoral purposes, debauchery, prostitution, etc. Among them being Maud McClellan, from Baltimore, and Marie Von Newendorf. The indictment is the second found under the new law. The trial is set for December 5th at Greensboro. Heavy penalties are imposed by statute. Napier and Quaster are now in jail at Charlotte.

YALE TAKES GAME FROM PRINCETON

Tigers Scored Upon in Close Game For First Time This Season.

CAROLINA DOWN IN DEFEAT

A. & M. Wins by Score of 50 to 0 From Richmond—Davidson Defeats South Carolina—Harvard Wins—Others.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12.—Yale 5; Princeton 3.

The Princeton football eleven today lost an opportunity of a life time, an oportunity to go through the football season of 1910 without defeat and possibly without being scored upon, but they lacked aggressiveness, a characteristic so pronounced in previous Tigers elevens.

Princeton was outplayed in every department of the game with the possible exception of kicking, Ballou's high spirals carrying further than those of Howe, the Yale crack. Princeton was fortunate to score. Had it not been for the fumbling of Daly in the first period the home eleven would have been unable to get close enough for Pendleton to try for a goal from placement.

Pendleton was the disappointment of the game. Compared with Yale's interference, Princeton's was infantile. The Yale ends broke through the Princeton line time and time again and threw the fleet footed Pendleton before he could get started. On the other hand Yale's line was her strongest point.

Neither eleven showed anything out of the ordinary. Aside from the forward pass there were no new football evolutions. Yale's best ground gainer was the fake-kick. Howe would drop back apparently waiting for the ball and either Kistler or Daly would take the pass and plough through the Princeton tackle or between tackle and end. The forward pass which enabled Yale to turn the tide of defeat into a wave of victory was beautifully executed. Yale had worked the ball well down the field, the advantage being partly due to a fumble when within 20 yards of the Princeton goal on the extreme east side of the field, Howe dropped to one side and sent the ball directly into Kilpatrick's hands. All the latter had to do was to touch the ground, as he was standing on the Princeton goal line. The touchdown was made at the corner and the kick out at a bad angle was missed. Those five points, however, were sufficient to win, and during the remainder of the game Yale played safe. In the last period the two teams kicked repeatedly, Princeton in the hope of a Yale back fumbling, and Yale in an effort to keep the dangerous Tigers from within striking distance of her goal. Three times Pendleton tried to boot the leather between the goal posts. It was the last hope. The Tigers could not gain consistently against the strong Yale line and a goal from placement if successful meant a score of six to five. Two of Pendleton's attempts went wide of the mark, but a third kick struck one of the posts and missed going over by about six inches.

Princeton scored a few minutes after play began in the opening period. Daly fumbled one of Ballou's kicks and Princeton secured the ball within twenty yards of the covered goal. After two attempts to advance the ball on end runs, Pendleton dropped back for a try at goal from placement. He was directly in front of the posts and the great throng was hushed as Ballous knelt to hold the ball. Ballou poised the spheroid and Pendleton sent it straight and true over the bar. The day was ideal for football.

White, who played left end on the Princeton eleven played a remarkable game. He was down under kicks like lightning and his tackling was hard and sure.

Howe ran the Yale team perfectly. On the other hand Ballou, after he had failed to gain with Pendleton, seemed puzzled. There was no variety of plays and Princeton apparently lost heart.

Yale quite the contrary grew faster as the game progressed, and being able to gain ground consistently kept the Princeton eleven on the defensive until near the close of the contest, when the blue was satisfied to play sure. More than 30,000 persons witnessed the game.

A. & M. Game.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 12.—Under ideal weather conditions, A. & M. hit her best form today and ran up a score of 50 to 0 against Richmond College. At no time did the Virginians have a look-in, being too light for the Farmers. Richmond executed successfully two attempts at forward passes; no attempts were made by A. & M.

The interference running by A. & M. was the prettiest ever seen on the local field. The machine-like precision with which A. & M. plays were piled off has not been seen before in Raleigh. The showing made by the backfield today proves that A. & M. has the fastest backfield in her history. Carl and Robertson getting away for 50 and 60-yard runs six times.

Stafford made a 75-yard run for a touchdown the last minute of play.

Robertson, Carl, Bray, VonEberstein and Glenn and Stafford were the bright particular stars for A. & M. Taylor, Gillia mand Southerland did good work for Richmond. The line-up:

Georgetown 15; Virginia 0.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a football game in Washington, Georgetown University today defeated the University of Virginia, 15 to 0. This is the first time that Georgetown has won from Virginia at football since the two schools resumed athletic relations in 1906.

Georgetown's defense was strong and only once was Virginia able to make first down. Georgetown resorted to the old style of play for her gains. But twice was the forward pass attempted.

Costello, quarterback for Georgetown, was the star, kicking three goals from the field. The playing of Kelley also was a feature. The line-up and summary:

Vanderbilt Defeats Techs.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12.—After playing Vanderbilt to a standstill in the first half of the football game here this afternoon, the Georgia Tech team weakened in the latter part of the session, resulting in the Commodores' scoring four touchdowns and three goals, both teams playing straight football, final score 23 to 0.

Tech showed remarkable improvement over past performances and the absence of fumbling was noticeable.

Wake Forest and Franklin.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 12.—Fifteen hundred people saw the game of football here today between the team from the Battleship Franklin, Norfolk, and the team from Wake Forest College. The game was most exciting throughout. The score on second quarter was six to nothing. Third quarter ended eleven to nothing. No score was made in the last quarter and the complete score was 11 to 0. The Sailors simply outclassed the Collegians.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Congressman-elect Sam R. Sells, of the First Tennessee district, announces that he will earnestly advocate the passage of Federal legislation to prohibit the interstate shipment of whiskey into "dry" territory. Sells was a temperance leader in the Tennessee State campaign two years ago, when the State-wide prohibition law was enacted.

DON'T STAY FAT.

This is fashion's decree as well as the general verdict of humanity in general. Fatness is despised by every one—fat people most of all. You must be thin to be popular, attractive, comfortable or contented. How to accomplish this much desired end without danger to health or resulting wrinkles or flabbiness was an unanswered question until the discovery of the famous Marmola Prescription. Now that this method has proved to be absolutely harmless, and the same formula is put up in the form of Marmola Prescription Tablets, thousands of men and women are reducing to natural symmetry at the rate of a pound or more a day, and are in better health and spirits from the change. This method of reduction is no hardship on the smallest purse, as all druggists sell a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets for 75c, or the Marmola Co., 606 Monroe avenue, Detroit, Mich., will mail a full case for the same small amount.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN KILLED.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 12.—Rudolph Monk, of Connellsville, Pa., captain and left halfback of the West Virginia University football team, died in the hospital here tonight of the concussion of the brain, received in the game with Bethany here this afternoon, in which the teams fought for the State championship. Monk was injured during the last period of the game, and was taken from the field unconscious. McCoy, right-end of the Bethany team, fell on Monk in the scrimmage and spectators say the men fought viciously. The referee declares he saw no blows struck. When McCoy arose from the prostrate form of Monk he was removed from the game. West Virginia won the game 8 to 0.

Coroner Rogers began the inquest into Monk's death tonight. Several witnesses testified that Monk was "slugged" during the game.

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—Attorney Homer N. Young, who umpired the football game between West Virginia and Bethany at Wheeling this afternoon, lives here. He said tonight:

"I can state positively," he said, "that the injury to Monk was the result of a plainly deliberate act. I cannot give the name of the Bethany player, who inflicted the injuries, but I saw the incident. A few minutes before this I had penalized Bethany fifteen yards, because the same Bethany player had run into Monk intentionally.

"I was watching for more work of the same sort. In the next rush there was no untoward occurrence, but in the next I saw the Bethany player, whose name I did not obtain, deliberately run into Monk and knock the latter over backward. Monk fell heavily on the back of his head and did not rise. If he was kicked I did not see it. I put the player who had knocked him down out of the game. He acted like a man who knew he had done something wrong, for he left the field without a word of protest or explanation."

CLOSE OF BALTIMORE MEET.

Aviators Unable to Fly Yesterday.—The Official Record.

Baltimore, Nov. 12.—Nothing could well have been more unpropitious for aviation than the weather of the early afternoon of the closing day of the Baltimore Aviation Meet. Between the times when the opening and closing bombs went aloft the wind blew at from 11 to 27 miles an hour, according to the official wind guage. The New York officials held off for less wind and refused to let any of the aviators go aloft until nearly 5 o'clock, when Hoxsey took the passenger-carrying Wright aloft for a brief flight, which was the last ascent of the meet which saved the day's gate receipts.

The official records of the meet were announced tonight as follows: Duration: Latham (Antoinette), 3 hours, 53 minutes, 31 1-5 seconds; Drexel (Bleriot) 1 hour 59 minutes, 23 2-5 seconds; DeLesseps (Bleriot) 1 hour, 55 minutes, 47 4-5 seconds; Hoxsey (Wright), 1 hour, 24 minutes, 42 24 seconds; Ely (Curtiss), 7 minutes, 40 1-5 seconds; Willard (Curtiss) 5 minutes, 30 seconds; Radley (Bleriot), three minutes, 31 3-4 seconds.

Latham's time in the flight over the city for The Sun prize, is not included in the above, it having been recorded outside the official time of the day upon which it was made. The flight lasted 42 minutes, 10 1-5 seconds.

Cross country (Fort Carroll and return, round trip about 18 miles): Drexel, (Bleriot), 23 minutes, 34 4-5 seconds; DeLesseps (Bleriot) 26 minutes, 15 seconds; Latham (Antoinette) 28 minutes. 58 seconds.

Bomb dropping, in competition for the Commodore Barry trophy: Latham (Antoinette) 10 points; Drexel, (Bleriot) 6 points.

Passenger carrying: DeLesseps, (Bleriot) total time 16 minutes, 48 2-5 seconds.

Best altitude records: Hoxsey (Wright), 5,330 feet; Drexel (Bleriot), 4,855 feet; Latham (Antoinette), 2,373 feet; DeLesseps (Bleriot), 1,722 feet.

The prize money was divided today in a manner said to have been agreeable to the several aviators.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The foreign warship at Amapala, Honduras, landed forces at that port on Tuesday to protect foreign citizens in anticipation of an uprising against General José Valladares. There were no disturbances, however, and the forces were withdrawn yesterday morning. This information was contained in a cablegram received by the Navy Department today from Commander Anderson, of the United States gunboat Yorktown. British, German and American war vessels are at Amapala.

FARM LIFE IN THE SCHOOLS

State Superintendent Leaves for Tour Good Roads Association in North Carolina—Drainage Convention.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 12.—With a view to making a special study of agricultural public school or farm life school methods and consolidation of school district results in Ohio, Indiana, Canada and of also looking into the public school systems of Maryland and Virginia, State Superintendent Joyner left today for Cincinnati to join the superintendents of the other Southern States for a tour with these objects in view. It is their annual Winter tour which they take with a view to observing methods and results in one and another section of the country. This trip will be of about ten days' duration.

State Bank Examiner J. K. Doughton, just back from an extended trip to principal business centers in the the wetern section of the State, says that business is improving wonderfully along all lines.

A charter is issued for the Edgecombe Benevolent Association (Inc.), without capital stock for conducting a hospital and doing charity work generally, M. T. Shackleford being one of the incorporators.

A. H. Johnson, of Marion, succeeds J. F. Spainhour of Morganton, as solicitor of the 14th judicial district, Mr. Spainhour having resigned on account of being elected a member of the 1911 Legislature.

That there are 20-odd county good roads associations fully organized and co-operating with the North Carolina Good Roads Association and movements afoot in more than as many more counties of the State looking toward organization within the next few months is the cheering "good roads" news just given out here by Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State Geologist, and secretary of the State good roads association. He says that by odds the banner county association in North Carolina is Buncombe, where wonders are being done in furtherance of road improvement around Asheville and through Buncombe county, the association actually raising the money to construct important stretches of improved roads to properly mark the roads in all directions and generally enthuse the people of the county in the good roads movement. Dr. Pratt says the membership of the county associations in the State vary from 25 active members to more than 300, according to the aggressiveness of those having the actual organization in hand. A Raleigh and Wake county association is to be formed November 29, at a meeting here that gives promise of great interest; then there will be a county meeting in Lumberton for Robeson county November 19th to consider the double question of issuing bonds for road improvement and to organize a permanent county good roads association. Dr. Pratt is to attend both of these meetings.

The indications are, Dr. Pratt says, for an exceptionally large attendance on the State Drainage Association meeting at Wilmington November 22nd and 23rd. It is to be an important meeting, he says, and delegates from all parts of the State where drainage is a live issue are being reported with assurances that large numbers of them wil attend. The business of the convention will be concentrated into the first day so that the second day will be devoted to a pleasure trip down the Cape Fear river and to phases of entertainment that are being provided by the people of Wilmington.

DO YOU PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES?

Those of you who have been making your purchases away from Wilmington should think before patronizing mail order and houses away from home any further.

Who sympathized with you when your little girl was sick? Was it the mail order house?

Who carried you last winter when you were out of a job and had no money? Was it the mail order house or was it your home merchant?

When you want to raise money for the church or for some needy person in town, do you write to the mail order house, or do you go to your home merchant?

How much does the mail order house give towards keeping up sidewalks or paying the minister's salary?

When you were sick how many nights did the mail order house sit up with you?

When you had to raise money to pay your gas bill, did you get it from the mail order house or a home merchant or contractor?

When your loved one was buried, was it your home merchant who dropped the tear of sympathy and uttered the cheering word, or was it the mail order house?

Only pure artesian water used, from a well one hundred and fifty feet deep, to produce live steam, afterwards condensed and frozen in clean moulds of uniform size, producing ice at a temperature suitable for all domestic and efrigerating purposes. Such ice is economical on account of no tendency to "flake" or break up when used and thus great loss is prevented.

WEEK'S DOINGS AT LUMBERTON

People Well Pleased With the Result of Eection—Editor and Chief of Police Have "Run-in"—Other Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Nov. 12.—The election is over and a majority of the people in this section are satisfied. The Democratic majority of 2,000 in Robeson will substantiate the statement that most of the voters are satisfied. No county in the State can boast of a finer set of county officers than has been elected to serve Robeson for the next two years.

The only change in the Court House is in the Clerk's office where Mr. Chas. B. Skipper has been chosen to succeed Mr. W. H. Humphrey, who is now closing a term of 12 years in that office. Only two of the old board of County Commissioners, Messrs. J. W. Carter and A. R. McEachern were candidates for re-election. The three new ones, Messrs. W. P. Barker, A. J. Floyd and J. F. McKay, are among the very best men in the county, and will look after the interests of the county as well as any that could be found. Lumberton, St. Paul's, Red Springs, Maxton and Fairmont furnish the commissioners, and each section is, as should be, proud of its representatives on the Board.

A musical attraction of exceptional merit and one that had made a metropolitan reputation in all the leading theatres in this country, is a "Japanese Honeymoon," which will be seen in the Opera House at Lumberton on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 24th. It will be presented here by The Runaways, one of the largest and best musical comedy companies ever sent on tour. The cast is an unusually strong one, including many names prominently identified with musical comedy. Miss Gladys Caldwell, that talented and beautiful prima donna, will be seen in the principal roll, while other members of the cast include James Beall, Alan Ramsey, Geo. Nelson, James Callahan, Frederick Bond, Henry Miller, Anabel Tarlton, Marion Clark, Madeline Shannon, Alice Barbour, Evelyn Burke, Maie Collins and a dandy chorus of pretty girls who can sing and dance.

There is going to be something doing at the Lumberton Opera House Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of the coming week. Scott Leslie and his "Merry Minstrel Maids" will be on hand to please lovers of good vaudeville. This company, which is composed of nine people, has played three weeks in Charlotte, three in Durham, three in Raleigh, two in Greensboro and two in Asheville. The press of the different cities where the show has been seen are loud in their praise of the performances and it is expected they will play to packed houses here. Prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents. Two shows will be given each night, the first beginning at 8 o'clock and the second at 9:15 so that those coming late will be sure of seeing a whole show at any hour.

A man by the name of J. C. Wilkes has bobbed up again, as the following letter from the Chief of Police at Monroe to Sheriff McNeill will show:

"Monroe, N. C., Nov. 9th.

"Dear Sheriff:—We have just finished the case of J. C. Wilkes for assault and battery on a negro girl here with a buggy whip. Before the Recorder he was fined $5 and costs. He took an appeal to Superior Court, was fined $20 and costs, which is very high amounting to about $60. He is now in jail. He admitted that he hated you, and paid $6 to write you up in the papers.

Respectfully,

"T. B. LANEY, Chief of Police."

The leter is on file in the Sheriff's office. This seems to be the same man who tried to assist in the attempt to defeat Sheriff McNeill in the primary and wired the Star from Maxton that the Lumberton correspondent of that paper was a liar.

The happiest child in all this region is little Miss Elizabeth Wishart, who received a diamond ring as a prize, she having won the first prize in this district in the Star contest. She desires to thank all the friends who assisted her in any way in the contest. She could not have been a winer but for the help of her friends and she is thankful to each and every one.

While four or five gentlemen were engaged in conversation here one day this week, the question of good health was discussed. One gentleman had never been confined to his bed by sickness over an hour during his life; another had never had a day's sickness except a spell of typhoid fever. The third stated that he was 57 years old, the father of 14 or 15 children, and had never been sick a day in his life. These gentlemen were all raised right here in this section. If everybody was like them all the doctors' signs would have to come down.

Braxton Hunt, a Croatan, came to town Thursday and after tanking up on mean booze, proceeded to curse out the town and everybody in it. He was landed behind the bars where he was given until yesterday morning to cool off. When he paid a $25 fine and $12.50 costs he was permitted to leave for home.

A pugilistic encounter occurred here Tuesday night about 10 o'clock in the Court House yard, Editor Sharpe, of the Robesonian, and Chief of Police Redfern being the parties to the knocking. They only passed a blow each when they were separated and neither was damaged. The trouble seems to have been caused by some 10-day-old chickens belonging to a child of Chief Redfern going into Mr. Sharpe's garden next door—they reside next door to each other. Mr. Sharpe is said to have had some words with the child about the chickens and later took a yard broom and killed one or two of the chicks. Mr. Sharpe says he had asked Mr. Redfern to have the chickens kept out of his yard and Mr. Redfern replied that he did not think they were his, but if they bothered him to kill them. Mr. Redfern said he did not care anything about the chickens being killed, but the manner in which Mr. Sharpe talked to the child was more than he could stand and keep his mouth shut. Mr. Sharpe said he could not take the abuse the Chief put on him without resenting it, and struck him. The Chief struck the next blow and then they were separated by Officer Strange and perhaps others. We are sure both gentlemen regret the affair and efforts are being made to settle the matter without going to court.

The Rowland Sun has offered a year's subscription to anyone to prove that the Star's correspondent at Lumberton is a Democrat, Republican or either. We could get several affidavits to our political faith and claim the reward but we don't think it necessary. We see the Sun every week and don't borrow it either. The Sun can decide what we are from the information we will give. We cast our first vote for W. S. Hancock and from then until now we have voted the ticket on which Hancock was running, from President down to township constable. If the Sun knows when Hancock ran, and for what position and by which party he was nominated, he can figure out our politics and save that reward. We may, as the Sun says, get badly wrong on political gossip, but we believe in giving other people the same privilege we would ask for ourselves and do not believe in slurring at anyone who happens to think different from what we do.

Several Lumberton people went to Sikes' Mill, in Bladen county, this week for the purpose of fishing when the water was turned off for repairs to the mill. Fish are reported to have been caught in great quantities, many of them being brought to this place and sold at low prices.

Dr. J. S. Norman, of Bladenboro, was a Lumberton visitor this morning.——Mr. C. M. Fuller received a car of unusually fine mules Thursday. Mr. Fuller says that while the demand for stock is not quite up to what it was this time last year, it is fairly good.

One of the finest turkeys we have seen brought to this market came from Bladen this week and sold for $3——Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Proctor, who were married several days ago, arrived Wednesday night and are now at home to their friends at the home of Mr. Proctor's mother——Mr. C. B. Redmond left this evening for Charleston, S. C., to attend a meeting of the Knights of Columbus in that city tomorrow——The report in the Star this morning from Lynchburg, Va., that Rev. A. E. Baker, of Lumberton, had accepted a call to one of the Presbyterian churches of that city, is cause for much sincere regret here. The entire section, regardless of denomination, will part with Mr. Baker and his excellent family with deepest sorrow. Mr. Baker is regarded here as one of the most sincere Christian ministers and high-toned gentlemen that has ever resided in this section. His presence is a blessing to any community.

During the coming week a popular Lumbertonian is going to claim a Marion, (S. C.), popular young lady for a bride. There are several others here who should go or stay and do likewise.

Wagons are hauling cotton to the new Jennings cotton mills, the first being put in yesterday. The management hopes to have the mills in operation not later than March 1st.

In reply to several inquiries we will state that Mr. Paul Gilmore is booked to appear at the Lumberton Opera House on Wednesday, December 21, presenting "The Bachelor."

We regret to report Mr. Lacy McKenzie as still very sick of typhoid fever——The November term of Superior Court which convened Wednesday is working hard trying, as far as possible, to clear the jail, but that can't be expected to be done in the ten days. A murder case is set for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday each, and one murder case will likely be continued.

Rev. A. P. Tyer, of Maxton who has been assisting Pastor Hoyle in the revival at the Methodist Church, returned home this morning——Thousands of friends in all sections of the State will be rejoiced to learn that Mr. Geo. D. McLeod is rapidly improving and expects to be able to return home very soon.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing for seven days, every postal clerk in the United States will be required to count every package of mail handled by him. Through packages of leters will be counted as a package but every letter or package that has to be worked by them has to be counted separately.

There was a slight wreck on the R. & C. at old Kingsdale, five miles south of here, Thursday evening. A force of men were engaged in gathering old scrap iron and loading it on a flat car, had occasion to use a switch, but engineer Doughtery used his emergency brakes and succeeded in reducing speed so that the only damage done was tearing the pilot from the engine. Chas. Pittman, the colored fireman, who had been slightly hurt earlier in the week while turning an engine at Marion, was sufficiently shaken up as to cause him to have to stop off for repairs. He is not hurt badly enough to confine him to his bed but is up walking around.

Capt. Amos King, of the R. & C., has been in Wilmington, for several days with his siter who is very sick During his absence his train is in charge of Mr. G. T. Cox.

COMPLETION OF WATERWAY

Dredges Expected to Meet Between Beaufort and Pamlico Tuesday. Agricultural Fair—Hon. Jno. H. Small.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., Nov. 12.—Hon. J. H. Small has recently been informed by Capt. Earl I. Brown, officer of this district in the United States Corps of Engineers, located at Wilmington, N. C., that the two large dredges being ngagd for almost a year in making excavations on the inland waterway, are expected to meet on next Tuesday, Nov. 15th.

This will mark the completion of that section of the Norfolk-Beaufort division of the waterway extending from Pamlico Sound to Beaufort Inlet, and will afford a minimum depth of 10 feet. When this section of the waterway is open, vessels can go from Newbern, Washington, or from any of the ports and streams in North Carolina, by protected route, southwardly through Beaufort Inlet. The completion of this work is also made notable, because it is the first work undertaken by the United States government in the construction of a continuous free waterway from Boston to Beaufort. It is understood that the completion of this waterway will be celebrated some time in December. The citizens of Beaufort, Morehead City and Oriental expect to combine and carry out a programme worthy of the occasion.

One of the largest and most successful agricultural fairs that have ever taken place in Beaufort county was held in the town of Aurora yesterday. Quite a number of excursionlons were run from this city and there were about 3,000 visitors present. The visitors on arrival were met by a large delegation of citizens and the Aurora band and given a royal and enthusiastic welcome. A fine picnic dinner was served.

The agricultural exhibits, consisting of corn, cotton, oats, wheat, potatoes, live stock, hogs, poultry, tobacco and other staple crops were exceptionally fine and some of the prize winners could not be surpassed in the State.

The horticultural and culinary exhibits in the Ladies' Department were also given special attention and greatly admired by the visitors. This fair was the second of its kind given under the auspices of the Aurora Retail Merchants' Association, for the purpose of encouraging and promoting better farming industries and agricultural productions.

Hon. Jno. H. Small of this city expects to leave Saturday evening to attend the annual meeting of the Mississippi-Atlantic Inland Waterway Association, which convenes at Pensacola, Fla., on the 14th 15th and 16th. This association was organized to promote the construction of the waterway across Florida and by an inside route to the Mississippi river. Mr. Small will attend the meeting of the association as its guest and will make an address on the unity of the Intra-Coastal Waterway along the Atlantic seaboard with the waterway from the Atlantic to the Gulf and the Missis-

The fourth annual meeting of the Second North Carolina National Guard Infantry Association was held in this city yesterday at the local armory. The programme consisted of two business sessions, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon, a buffet luncheon and ended with a swell reception at the home of Maj. W. C. Rodman on Main street. About 35 of the Second Infantry's 50 officers were in attendance.

Sunday, November 13.

A lecturer says "women should learn to argue." That lecturer is some upstart who doesn't belong to the married men's union.

The Republicans carried Rhode Island by a majority of only 903. When Senator Aldrich decided not to be a candidate for the Senate again he was guessing pretty close at the slim chances he would have to be re-elected.

The Democrats, having carried the Legislature in West Virginia, will elect a United States Senator to succeed Nathan B. Scott, Republican. The Hon. Henry Gassaway Davis, Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1904, is a candidate for the Senatorship. Senator Elkins, the other Republican Senator, is Mr. Davis' son-in-law.

An Atlanta woman has sued her husband for divorce because he gave her the silent treatment, refusing to say a word to her or jaw back for a whole month. If there is anything that a woman can't stand for it's silent insolence. In order to keep on friendly terms with his wife a man is supposed by her to have spunk enough to take part in a family disturbance.

The importance of voting is illustrated in the election of Robert E. Lee, Democrat, in a Congressional district in Pennsylvania. His majority was only 49 over his Republican opponent, but there are instances where candidates have been elected by only a majority of one. It is a duty every man owes to himself and his country to register and exercise the right of citizenship. No citizen should be as indifrent as the thousands or more men in New Hanover who stayed away from the polls last Tuesday.

The State penitentiary farms will this year produce 1,200 bales of cotton valued at about $90,000. Besides this there are bumper crops of corn, peas, potatoes and other products. It is gratifying that the penitentiary farms are self-sustaining and will this year make a net profit of $110,000 for the State. The Republicans and Populists in fusion days plied up a debt of $100,000 against the penitentiary. Democrats are different and that is the reason the people decided by a big majority to keep a competent administration in charge of the affairs of their State.

Some Republicans who cannot see beyond the point of their noses are already predicting a panic because of Democratic success. They seem to enjoy a panic rgularly every ten years under Republican administrations. We should think they would have enough of the Roosevelt panic during which four times as many National banks failed than during the so-called Cleveland panic which was inherited from Harrison's administration and was cured by Cleveland when he secured repeal of wild-cat silver certificate Republican financial legislation. The financial loses and the number of unempoyed during the Roosevelt panic were enormous compared with the depression under Cleveland's administration. In North Carolina alone last year the number of unemployed was 36,000, and this is four years since the panic began, leaving some of it ill effects to this very day. Republicans certainly should quit howling about panics and hard times in view of the Republican panic records, with which all ought to be familiar by this time.

COMING DRAINAGE CONVENTION.

The drainage question throughout North Carolina does not alone embrace the movement for the drainage of swamp lands, but it involves the importance of draining all our lands—uplands as well as lowlands. This question must be considered from a scientific standpoint and there is no better way for the farmers of North Carolina to get posted on the value and importance of drainage than to attend the third annual meeting of the North Carolina Drainage Association to be held in Wilmington, beginning November 21st and continuing three days. The Hon. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn' President of the Drainage Association, writes the Star:

"I desire to thank you for the articles that have recently appeared in The Star on the question of drainage. This is a question of such vital importance to the whole State, and especially to the territory tributary to Wilmington, that we cannot have too much agitation. It is my ambition to make this convention the largest in the history of the Association, and I will appreciate it very much if you will keep up a systematic agitation until after the 21st. One thing that I wish to call especial attention to is that most of the papers treat this matter as swamp drainage, or the reclamation of swamp lands. Drainage is of equal importance to the average land now under cultivation, and is the first that should receive attention, as it will so materially increase the yield, and do so at very much less cost than it would should we attempt to drain the swamp lands first. If the idea prevails that the drainage question is only applicable to swamp lands, people will not take hold of it so universally as if treated in a general way. A much larger per cent. of the people are more vitally interested in properly drained uplands than they are in reclaiming swamp lands."

President Brown calls attention to an important feature of the drainage movement. That is that it covers the entire question of drainage, a matter which we have heretofore emphasized. Some of the best uplands we have seen in North Carolina badly need drainage and in many instances our farmers do not recognize it. Some of their lands, which apparently are well drained, could be vastly improved and made more productive and valuable by scientific drainage, terracing and diking, and all these questions will be interestingly discussed at the forthcoming drainage convention in Wilmington. Among the distinguished speakers to be here will be a drainage expert of the National Agricultural Department, Drainage Commissioner J. O. Wright, State Geologist Joseph Hyde Pratt, Congressman John H. Small, and others. All the counties in the State should send delegates and get in touch with this great question.

President Brown writes that he is receiving letters from a good many of the county commissfoners throughout the State informing him that they are appointing delegates and hope to have a good attendance at this convention. Wilmington will be glad to have a great attendance at this convention, not only because of the importance of this progressive undertaking, but because it will afford the people of Wilmington pleasure to have in their midst the substantial North Carolinians who are coming here, either by appointment or because they desire to come and receive the benefits to be derived from the convention.

Wilmington is getting ready to entertain the convention in fine style, and among the pleasures being arranged for the entertainment of her visitors will be a trip down the historic Cape Fear and swift trolley rides to Wrightsville Beach. Be sure to come to Wilmington when the convention meets on Monday of next week.

Says the Baltimore Evening Sun: "Some Republicans profess to believe that the election insures Taft's success in 1912." It's a good idea to chase rainbows when the horizon is gloomy. The cheerful optimist has pessimist "beaten to a frazzle."

An eating contest has begun at Chicago with 250 entries. How many will come out alive it is difficult to say, but most of them would rather take chances on eating than to go in a mad speed automobile race or participate in an aviator's contest.

A rockbound Republican District in the mountains of Kentucky, having elected the notorious Caleb Powers to Congress will show President Taft what the morale of his party is in the South. When a pardoned convict can get the votes of any party the limit is reached.

The Durham Herald remarks:

"If Mr. Duncan should say that he was not glad of it we would find it hard to believe him."

We are prepared to believe that he either chuckles over it or enjoys grim satisfaction of some kind.

It is stated that 4,000 Republican officeholders in Chicago will loose their jobs on account of the Democratic victory in that city. They might have better luck by proving that the returns showed that they helped out in the landslide and that there are no Republicans in Chicago at all.

SOME TRUST BUSTING.

A dispatch in the Star yesterday morning under date of Pittsburg, Penn., gave us an illustration of trust busting by the Republican administration. The Glass Trust which was under indictment made no contention against the government's cause and fifteen officers and directors of the trust were fined $500 each of $7,500 for the bunch. In addition to that, a fine of $2,500 was imposed upon the corporation itself, together with the costs. The total fines amount to $10,000, a mere batatelle at which the glass trust will laugh, as the tariff benefits, not mentioning their legitimate profits, will amount to more than the fine for a single day's business. No man was put in jail and the fine hardly amounts to a decent license to go right on with the business in violation of the anti-trust law.

It is presumed that the government compromised the case with the understanding that the glass combine will dissolve, for it is announced that it will do so immediately. That means that it will simply change its form but not its methods, following the plan of the paper trust and all other trusts that have been busted. The glass trust was incorporated as the Imperial Window Glass Company which controlled the products of glass factories in twenty or more States. The fact is, about all the glass manufacturers were in the combine and with competition among them destroyed by their getting together, they had increased the price of window glass to 60 or 70 per cent, over and above the regular selling prices. The government alleged that the trust constituted a monopoly and controlled prices without competition, in restraint of trade.

Of course, the Imperial Window Glass Company was a trust and monopolized the window glass business, absolutely having it in its power to fix whatever price it chose. It could not only increase prices from 60 to 70 per cent, but more if it had desired to do so. It was enabled to do that under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law which provided protection to the amount of 41 to 74 per cent. Protection like that absolutely debarred foreign competition and in order to eliminate competition among themselves in a market walled in for them by the tariff they combined. They not only combined to keep prices stationary but when they destroyed competition among themselves they put up prices from 60 to 70 per cent. as charged by the government and as confessed by the trust. The election is over now but what Republican or what Democrat can deny that the glass trust was enabled by the tariff to combine at the expense of everybody who buys a window glass?

The government will claim that it had busted the glass trust, but in some mysterious way the price of window glass will not be changed. The tariff on glass was levied by Republican Congresses to permit glass manufacturers to get the benefit of an increase of 41 to 74 per cent. over the foreign prices and as a matter of course American manufacturers will take advantage of it. The glass trust is only one of the many trusts who are doing that same thing under the Republican tariff system which has caused the voters of the United States to rise in resentment and bring about a Democratic landslide.

There is no reason why Col. Roosevelt should become the unspeakable clam instead of the big noise.

When you come to think of it, the Republicans who voted the Democratic ticket last Tuesday have every reason to be the happiest men in the bunch.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Godwin and Meares each lost his home precinct to the other.—Maxton Scottish Chief.

A victorious fellow is a mean cuss when he acts ugly and grouchy toward one who is beaten and is trying to make the best of it and be cheerful.—Greensboro News (Rep.)

The Solid South will be the ruling power in the next Congress, and yet we hear not blood-curdling prophecies of national disaster from the G. O. P.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

Senator Depew's satisfaction at the conclusion of his public career will be shared by a constituency impatient to see the great State of New York represented in Congress by a Senator of adequate ability and stature.—New York World.

Republicans of this section need not necessarily feel cast down. It has long been apparent that things would have to get worse before they could get any better. A house cleaning and deodorizing process became imperative.—Asheville Gazette-News. (Rep.)

The official count of Caldwell county gives Doughton a maojrity of one vote. It was thought that Cowles would carry the county, but the official returns give Doughton 1,580 and Cowles 1,579. The State ticket went Republican by about 38 majority.—Salisbury Post.

Mr. David H. Blair, of Winston-Salem, whom Major Stedman defeated for Congress in the Fifth District, is being commended by the press of the district for the high plane on which he conducted his campaign and for the cheerful philosophy with which he has accepted defeat. The praise appears to have been well earned on both accounts.—Charlotte Observer.

The news that Caleb Powers had been elected to Congress from Kentucky must have been received the country over with astonishment. He ought to be denied his seat in Congress and the movement under way to have him barred should be successful. Congress ought to have too much respect for itself than to welcome an associate with a record such as Powers has.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Mrs. Grace E. Gunn, of 1017 Woodycrest avenue, the Bronx, began last night at Genealogical Hall, in West Fifty-eighth street, a course of instruction that is designed to make public speakers of the most diffident of women, orators of women who stammer, and in general to prepare for the political platform of the next campaign a list of feminine workers who will pull votes. Mrs. Gunn is the wife of a millionaire builder of the Bronx.—New York American.

Exercising a mighty influence and standing upon the loftiest pedestal of any citizen in the country, he preferred the noisy role of a demagogue and disturber, and his descent in the public estimate has been even more rapid and remarkable than his rise. An inflammatory agitator, self-seeker and breeder of class hatred, he libelled recklessly the industries, business men and financiers of the country, assaulted the courts and treated even the President of his own making with lofty disdain.—Troy (N. Y.) Press.

There can be but one reason for the downfall of Republicanism in New York State—R-o-o-s-e-v-e-l-t. His campaign of vituperation, falsehood and muck-raking, his party's past record of corruption, extravagance and broken promises, aroused the wrath of the sober thinking men of the State and they acted. * * * The industrial and commercial interests backed up with their votes their cry for the substitution of some reasoning for Roosevelt radicalism and sophistry.—Schenectady Item.

It now appears that the next United States Senate will have a Republican majority of 10 votes. Six of those 10, and probably more, will be insurgents committed to the doctrine of piecemeal revision of the tariff. Their votes, added to the solid Democratic vote, can carry any measure that comes before the Senate. In these circumstances it is quite probable that we shall shortly learn just what insurgency is. We shall find out whether it is a thing of principle or of policy. We shall find out whether the men who have made brave professions are ready to live up to those professions. And, inasmuch as the solid Democratic vote will be required to pass any tariff legislation that may be proposed, we may also learn a thing or two about some of the members of that party. A protection Democrat is not a pleasing sight. Altogether the revelations of the opening session of the new Congress ought to be interesting.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

FOR ADJUTANT GENERAL.

Expected Appointment Did Not Materialize Yesterday—Salary.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 12.—The expected appointment of an adjutant general to succeed the late General Armfield, did not materialize today. This is taken to mean that the Governor has offered the place to some one who hesitates about accepting. There is evidently sure to be an appointment Monday. It is believed here Governor Kitchin's preference for Adjutant General is Col. S. W. Minor, of Durham, banker, said to feel he could ill afford to leave his business to undertake the Adjutant Generalship, on the salary, regarded very inadequate, now that residence is required in Raleigh. The pay is $1,600. There is sure to be a formidable move on the approaching Legislature to increase the salary considerably. It is believed here that in the event the Governor has offered the Adjutant Generalship to Col. Minor and he will not accept, then Col. R. L. Leinster, Assistant Adjutant General, will get the appointment. However, a number of strong applicants are making it difficult to predict just where lightning strikes, if not Minor.

CORSETS

Our Corset Subject To-day—Redfern Whalebone Corsets. Why do makers put the word Whalebone into the name of their corsets? Because they wish you to know at a glance the character of Redfern Whalebone Corsets. If the maker is willing to tell you the exact nature of the boning, you may be sure that he is equa ly careful in other matters, such as design or fit, in which you must trust to his skill. Substitutes for whalebone are used, but they remain substitutes and not improvements. There has never been found a boning substance to adequately take the place of whalebone. Perfect corseting does not come from designing only, but from the combination—correct designing, right fabrics for the specific model, and pliable, dependable boning that will not "set" but will sustain the corset shape so that when adjusted to the form it moulds into the corset shape.

GREENBERG FOUND GUILTY

Restaurant Keeper Fned $100 and Taxed With Costs for Selling Whiskey—Appeal to Superior Court—Other Cases.

Following argument in the case against P. B. Greenberg, proprietor of Riverside restaurant, at foot of Market street, charged with selling three half pints of whiskey to D. B. Parker, of Goldsboro, the Recorder yesterday morning pronounced the defendant guilty and fined him $100 and costs. Appeal to Superior Court was taken and bond in the sum of $150 was given.

The evidence in the case was heard at Friday morning's session of court, but argument of counsel was postponed until yesterday morning. Parker testified that he purchased the whiskey from Greenberg and the latter testified that he did not make the sale. Woodus Kellum, Esq., appeared for the defendant while County Attorney Marsden Bellamy prosecuted.

Parker was also the prosecuting witness in a case against Katie Pinner, a white woman, charged with robbing him of $10 in money, alleged to have been committed at the Riverside restaurant Wednesday night. The woman was arrested Friday night and was in court yesterday morning to answer the charge. Parker had not been summoned and was not in court. The case was continued until Tuesday morning.

A case against Stella Dewsey, a denizen of the underworld, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, will come up Monday morning. She was arrested Friday night, but yesterday morning she was recognized by the chief of police until Monday.

Beatrice Pridgen, colored, was found not guilty of the charge of assault with deadly weapon on Celestine Patterson, colored, and the prosecutor was taxed with the costs. In the case of Wm. H. Moore, colored, convicted at Friday's sitting of the charge of receiving stolen goods knowing them to have been stolen, judgment was continued until Monday.

A LOVING TRIBUTE.

The members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Wilmington, N. C., desire to pay a loving tribute to the life and work of Miss Mary Bridgers. In this hour, the light of her beautiful life, unselfishly lived among us, illumines and points the way. Her gentle tenderness and Christian encouragement, the midnight message, so often received, when we have been wrestling as did Jacob of old, to overcome a false sense, these recollections fill our hearts today, with a perfume indescribably sweet.

Her loyal devotion, and absolute consecration to the Christian Science ideal; her faithful adherence to Principle, as she found this expounded in the writings of our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, and emphasized by her teacher, Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of New York City, furnish an example of heroism which has called forth the admiration, and highest esteem, of this community.

As her friends, we desire to take this opportunity to express our thanks for the many loving messages, and the tender solicitude, expressed by our friends in this hour of trial.

Our beloved has gone up higher, and, we, arising from the baptism of sorrow and tears, turn loving hearts to our Father—Mother God, and in the words of our beloved Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, we pray:

Oh! make me glad for every scalding tear,
For hope deferred, ingratitude, disdain;
Wait, and love more for every hate, and fear
No ill, since God is good, and loss is gain.

MR. ATKINSON GOES TO FLORIDA

Head of Statistical Bureau of A. C. L. Resigns on Account of Ill Health and Will Go to Martin, Fla.—Departure Regretted.

Many friends in this city will learn with sincere regret that Mr. T. C. Atkinson, for many years in charge of the Statistical Bureau of Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, with headquarters in this city, has severed his connection with that department, on account of ill health, and will leave in a few days with his family for Martin, Florida, where he will have charge of the Coast Line interests at that place.

He has a wide circle of friends in this city who will regret to learn that the condition of his health necessitated a change and will hope that his health will so improve that within a comparatively short time he will return to this city to reside. Being endowed naturally with great adaptability and having taken a course in law and passing the examination as expert accountant before entering the service of the railroad, he served the railroad in such efficient manner that he gained the appreciation of the officials and the united admiration of his fellow clerks. He has been a great service to the railroad in his position in the statistical department and he will be a most useful man in his new position.

None regret the departure of Mr. Atkinson more than his associates in the Statistical Department. A committee from this department called on him yesterday morning and presented to him, on behalf of the department, a handsome present and resolutions setting forth in a marked degree the general esteem in which he is held by the entire bureau. It is needless to say that Mr. Atkinson greatly appreciated the manifestation of the esteem in which he is held by his fellow workers in the railroad service and all wish him great success in his new position and his early restoration to haith. His successor has not yet been announced.

THOSE POLES.

Manager of Postal Says They Are Not "Chief Violator."

The Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

Dear Sir:—I notice in your issue of the 11th instant that The Postal Telegraph-Cable Company is listed among the Chief Violators of the law against the obstructions of the streets by poles.

I beg to state that we have only two poles on the streets in this city and they are located as follows: one between Front and Water on Chesnut street, and the other at corner of Princess and Water streets.

After counting the number of poles the Western Union and the Bell Company have on the business streets of Wilmington and comparing this list with the two we have on the above named places, I hardly see how this company would come under the list of Chief Violators as published in your paper.

Our competitors when soliciting business show our lines and poles very small on back of their telegraph blanks, but when it comes to whose poles are taking up the sidewalks and obstructing business, our line and poles from their standpoint are very large.

I mention this because the Bell Co., is kicking and because they own 51 per cent. of the stock of the Western Union and are responsible for the sketch on back of the Western Union blanks. When I refer to the Bell Co., I mean the American Telephone and Telegraph Co, as the local company is only a subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Yours very truly,
W. H. STANSELL, Manager.

BIG CARGO FROM HAMBURG.

Steamer Brings 5,000 Tons Kainit—Other Shipping News.

With one of the largest cargoes of fertilizer constituents brought to the port this season, the British steamer Ferndene, Capt. Leighton, arrived yesterday from Hamburg. The steamer has a cargo of 5,000 tons, which is consigned to the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company. On account of the large cargo she will be forced to discharge a portion at the Seaboard terminals to lighter her and will then proceed to the factory up the river. The steamer made a good passage across, sailing from Hamburg on the 20th of October.

The British steamer Magda, Capt. Bennett, which discharged fertilizer constituents to the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, cleared yesterday for Norfolk, where she will receive cargo for the West Indies.

Death of Mrs. Ohio T. Eure.

Mention was made in yesterday's paper of the death of Mrs. Ohio T. Eure, stepmother of Mrs. C. D. Bell, of this city, which occurred at her home in Norfolk Friday morning. Yesterday's Norfolk Landmark contained the following relative to her death: "Announcement of the death of Mrs. Ohio T. Eure, wife of Judge M. L. Eure, following an operation at the Norfolk Protestant hospital, was received with sorrow by the hundreds of friends of the deceased who was a lady of beautiful character and who endeared herself to all through her lovable disposition. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. J. L. Moore, of Norfolk; Mrs. A. H. Smith, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Lee Eure, of Norfolk; Mrs. J. W. Atwood, of New York; Mr. Z. V. Eure, of Norfolk; Miss Hannah Moore Eure, of Norfolk, and Miss Olia Eure, of Norfolk."

THE Y. M. C. A. WEEK OF PRAYER

Begins With Services This Afternoon at Which Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Milton Will be the Speaker. During the Week.

The annual Week of Prayer of the Young Men's Christian Association begins today and will continue through next Sunday and the local association, as previously announced in this paper, has perfected arrangements for observance of the season. The first service under the auspices of the local association will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the parlors of the association when Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Milton, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, will be the speaker. His subject will be "The Responsibility of Talent."

All the men of the city, whether members of the association or not, are cordially invited to attend the service this afternoon as well as those which will be held during the week. It is hoped all the young men of the association will be in attendance not only this afternoon, but every service during the season of prayer.

During the week services will be held at the Y. M. C. A. every day at 1:05 P. M. The speaker tomorrow afternoon at that hour will be Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Tuesday afternoon the speaker will be Rev. Thos A. Smoot, pastor of Grace Methodist Church; Wednesday, Rev. W. A. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will conduct the services; Friday, Rev. C. H. Morton, pastor of the Christian Church, will be in charge, and on Saturday the speaker will be Rev. W. E. Cox, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Sunday afternoon, November 20th, the closing day of the Week of Prayer, Rev. Dr. Byron Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Greensboro, will be the speaker, and the service will be held in the Bijou theatre. Dr. Clark is a comparatively young man and has delighted and instructed many of the young men in all the larger cities of the State by his lectures and sermons. He is a splendid speaker and is considered one of the ablest ministers in the North Carolina Presbyterian Synod. He will doubtless be heard by a large crowd upon the occasion of his visit to this city.

In addition to the services mentioned above there will be prayer services from 9:30 to 10 o'clock every evening during the week and a prayer service at 9 o'clock in the mornings.

Notice of the observance of the Week of Prayer and a complete programme has been mailed to members of the association by Mr. K. W. Price, chairman of the religious work committee, and Mr. H. G. Bowden, associate secretary.

ADRIFT IN OCEAN TWO WEEKS

The Gasoline Boat "Venus" Put in at Wrightsville Yesterday Afternoon for Provisions on Way to Jacksonville, Fla.

The gasoline boat "Venus," formerly a government surf boat, Capt. Joseph F. Vitous, bound from Cleveland, Ohio, to Jacksonville, Fla., caught off Cape Hatteras in the recent northeast storm and hurricane and having drifted almost helplessly for two weeks on the turbulent waters of the Atlantic, put in at Wrightsville Sound at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for provisions and also for the purpose of giving the captain of the craft the opportunity of shaking the hand of Capt. W. A. Sanders and congratulating him upon his escape off the Florida coast during the same storm in which the Venus fared so badly.

Capt. Vitous came to the city last night on a suburban car and got in communication with Capt. Sanders over the telephone and extended to him his congratulations at his rescue from his harrowing experience.. He will see Capt. Sanders in person tomorrow, having made an engagement with him, at which the two sea captains will likely swap experiences in what is admitted to have been one of the worst storms on the Atlantic coast in recent years.

With his wife and little son and a crew of seven men, one of whom was accompanied by his wife and two small sons, Captain Vitous left Cleveland, Ohio, July 16th in the Venus, which is only 28 feet in length and has a gasolene engine of only six horse power, bound for Jacksonville, Fla., a distance of approximately 2,500 miles, having made a wager with some of his friends that a boat of the size and power could easily make a voyage of the kind with perfect safety. According to the terms of the wager, Captain Vitous is to receive $3,000 and all his expenses if he succeeds in landing his boat at Jacksonville, otherwise the expenses of the trip are to be borne by him. Notwithstanding the bad weather and the several accidents to the craft, Captain Vitous expects to land safely at the Florida port within the next few weeks, allowing for a stop of several days at Charleston, S. C., where he will receive his mail and supplies for the remainder of the journey.

From Cleveland Captain Vitous traveled on the waters of Lake Erie for a distance of 212 miles and then passed through the Erie canal, distance 387 miles, and into the Hudson to New York City. Leaving New York the Venus took the inside route to Elizabeth City, where owing to sickness aboard, the party remained for eight weeks, continuing the journey southward just one day before the approach of the tropical storm. Captain Vitous, a civil engineer by profession, but who for the past 12 years has been interested in navigation, said that the storm was not only the worst he has encountered on his present trip, but the most severe in his entire experience. Being unfamiliar with the Atlantic coast and having no charts or other guide save a United States map, Captain Vitous was in an exceedingly bad way when the storm struck him. But he kept his head and made the best of the situation, thinking always and first of the safety of his wife and child and others on board. He endeavored to anchor, but his anchor chains broke, and his boat having been badly disabled drifted helplessly for several days, and finally reached a point about 100 miles from mainland. When the storm subsided Capt. Vitous began the best he could to make his way to some harbor for repairs. His boat was in such condition that he could make only two or three miles an hour and at times could make no progress whatever. Last Monday he put in at Portsmouth, N. C., a small place about 40 miles above Beaufort, where his boat underwent the necessary repairs. Not only was the craft in bad shape, but having been out for two weeks, provisions had run low and those on board had scarcely nothing to eat the last few days on the water, Having had his mail containing checks forwarded to him at Charleston, S. C., Captain Vitous and crew had to depend upon the generosity of the people of the community and the fishermen for something to eat. He spoke in very high praise of those who had befriended him on the trip, the names of each having been carefully placed in his memorandum book for future reference.

Leaving Portsmouth Wednesday morning the party stopped at Morehead City, where they were kindly received by the people of that place, and then came on to Wrightsville, arriving yesterday afternoon. The Venus will leave Tuesday morning for Charleston, S. C., and thence to Jacksonville, Fla., where the party will probably spend the Winter. Captain Vitous said that he would return to Cleveland, Ohio, next Spring, but would very likely secure a larger boat before undertaking the trip.

HANDSOME YACHT HERE.

Bound From Philadelphia to Palm Beach—The Coco Pomelo.

The first yacht of the season, bound from the North to Southern waters, the Coco Pomelo, to visit this port and one of the most handsome and largest to ever stop here, arrived yesterday morning with the owner, Mr. William Diston, and a party of friends aboard.

The yacht is bound from Philadelphia to Palm Beach, where the party will spend the Winter. It is a vessel of about 60 tons, built on the order of a house-boat and is elaborately fitted up. She makes a good appearance and was admired yesterday by many who chanced to see her from the wharf. Mr. Diston and party, came from Philadelphia down the coast in the yacht and yesterday left by train for Palm Beach. Capt. Sprague, the master, will carry the yacht down to Florida this week.

Second Sermon on "The Problem of Indifference"—Special Music.

Dr. Milton will preach his second sermon on "The Problem of Indifference" tonight. Last Sunday night the phase of indifference with which he dealt was that of the careless, good-natured, superficial man or woman of the world. Tonight he will take up the indifference due to the absorption and preoccupation of the man of affairs, the serious indifference of the seriously practical.

The services will as usual be preceded by a short organ recital, beginning at 7:45 P. M. The selections on the organ will be: "Grand Chorus" by Dubois; "Pilgrim's Song of Hope" by Batise; "March" by Calkin.

The serivce itself will be short, and familiar to everyone. The anthems will be: "The Soft Sabbath Calm" by Barnby, and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" by Ambroise.

The Brotherhood of St. James' will be in waiting to welcome visitors, and show them seats anywhere they desire.

This indicates the action of Foley Kidney Pills as S. Parsons, Battle Creek, Mich., illustrates: "I have been afflicted with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble for which I found no relief until I used Foley Kidney Pills. These cured me entirely of all my ailments. I was troubled with backaches and severe shooting pains with annoying urinary irregularities. The steady use of Foley Kidney Pills rid me entirely of all my former troubles. They have my highest recommendation." Robt. R. Bellamy.

CHARMINGLY ENTERTAINED AT BRILLIANT RECEPTION.

One of the most charming and thoroughly delightful social functions of the past week was the reception given Friday afternoon by Mrs. Alian Nichols at her home on South Front street in honor of her attractive house guests, Mrs. Joseph Mathers and Mrs. Lyman Nichols, of New York, who were honor guests at a number of pleasant affairs during the week.

During the hours of the event there was a large number of guests. The home was exquisitely and most appropriately decorated, the color scheme of yellow being carried out most effectively in the arrangement. Mrs. Nichols was assisted in receiving by Mesdames G. G. Thomas, Geo. W. Kidder, J. V. Grainger, Gabriel Holmes, and Misses Carrie Myers, Sue McQueen and May Beverly French. Misses Elise Kidder, Katie Grainger and Agnes McQueen assisted in the dining room. Mrs. Nichols is a most charming hostess and the event proved one of the pleasant affairs of the season.

MISS MARY BRIDGERS.

When men, in the heat of battle die, we call them heroes. When men devote large amounts of money (as they grow old and the enjoyments of making and hoading wealth relaxes) to charitable purposes, we call them benefactory, but when a young woman with beauty, grace and charms and with wealth devotes all, on the altar of principle, to others, especially the poor, and when that principle demands that she "practise what she preaches" and willingly, contrary to the hue and cry, "no doctor!" gives her life to show her principles, I "take off my shoes from off my feet" in her presence, for where she lies is "holy ground." No one ever died in this State and few, anywhere, that demand of me greater admiration. Her charming personality gave pleasure to any who just passed by her and her principles, like adamant, were as firm as Gibraltar. I here say in Wolff's words to Sir John Moore, "Carve not a line to Sir John Moore "But leave her alone in her glory!"

STEAMER ON THE SHOALS.

Revenue Cutter Left Last Night for Cape Hatteras.

In response to a telegram from Beaufort stating that an unknown steamer had been reported by wireless ashore on Diamond Shoals and in need of assistance, the revenue cutter Seminole, Capt R. O. Crisp commanding, left last night shortly after 10 o'clock for Cape Hatteras to render any aid possible to the distressed vessel.

The steamer was first reported ashore about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the crew at the Creeds' Hill Life Saving station, located a short distance from the shoals, the message was communicated by wireless from Hatteras to Beaufort and the Seminole was then notified by wire of the call of the vessel. The Seminole went immediately to sea last night and will reach her this afternoon. Good weather was reported at sea yesterday, which is favorable for the steamer.

RAMBLING SUGGESTIONS.

Mr. J. B. Mercer Writes of Charlotte to Wilmington Highway.

Editor Star:—The Pathfinders have made their report upon its findings, which is very comprehensive and full and should have its weight with the committee in charge of the Charlotte to Wilmington highway, in making the final decision as to location. As an interested onlooker and will wisher of the enterprise, I will venture to suggest that the whole route be over North Carolina territory and to extend a cordial invitation to our neighbors across the State line to intersect the highway with good roads at various points, as well as the neighboring counties in our own State. The advantages thus gained are too obvious to be mentioned. Stick a pin in Wilmington on the map, also stick a pin in Old Hundred, near Hamlet, then draw a string from pin to pin and the string will come 100 miles of the S. A. L. R. R.; now stop a bit and think what that means. From there on to Charlotte, the country becomes more hilly and necessarily the route more crooked. But by all means stick close to the line of the S. A. L. R. R., and we will have the best, most direct and most practical route that, to my mind, could be selected. Although many swamps and much lowland would be encountered by this route, yet the same would be encountered by any other. But we hope for great things to be accomplished by the various drainage projects now being organized in many sections where drainage is so much needed.

Of course, the only logical way to enter Wilmington, would be across Eagle's Island, at some point, at or near the present causeway. If any legislation is necessary in order to accomplish this great improvement to Wilmington and vicinity, let it be put in shape by the authorities for our next Legislature to handle.

YOUNG FARMER INJURED.

Mr. J. L. Dempsey Struck by Falling Trolley Pole Yesterday.

While standing at Front and Castle streets about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. J. L. Dempsey, a young truck farmer of Wrightsboro, was struck on the right shoulder by a falling pole which supported the trolley wires of the Tidewater Power Company, but fortuately was not seriously injured, escaping with only a few severe bruises. The accident occurred when the "wreck car," used by the company to make repairs to the wires, which was speeding southward, had its trolley entangled in the wires overhead, pulling down several poles. Dr. J. B. Cranmer was summoned and rendered Mr. Dempsey the necessary medical attention, after which he left for his home at Wrightsboro.

CITY TEAMS INCINERATED

Annex of Orrell Livery Stables Consumed in Spectacular Blaze—Nine Head Horses and Carriages Burned—Loss.

In a spectacular fire shortly after last midnight which destroyed the old frame building on Third, between Market and Princess streets, owned by Mr. D. L. Gore and occupied by the Orrell Livery Company as an annex to its livery stables, seven mules and one horse belonging to the city were incinerated while another horse was so badly burned that he had to be killed; seven carriages, one casket wagon and two wagonettes belonging to the livery company were consumed and a Chinese laundryman, who occupied a small space in the front portion of the building, lost practically all of his effects, running the total estimated damage up to some $8,000 or $10,000. The loss of the city teams is practically covered by insurance, but it is understood that there was but little insurance on the vehicles owned by Mr. Orrell.

The origin of the fire is a mystery and may never be known. About 12:15 o'clock the blaze was discovered by members of the police department, who immediately turned in an alarm from box 27, corner Third and Princess streets, bringing the firemen to the scene in a jiffy. The entire front portion of the building was enveloped in flames and efforts to get the horses and mules out were successful only as to the saving of two horses, one of which, however, was so badly burned that it was deemed best to shoot him to relieve him of his sufferings. It was a frame structure covered with sheet iron, which made it extremely difficult for the firemen to get at the flames. They fought heroically for more than an hour before the fire could be considered under absolute control.

At one time it looked as if the dwelling house next north, owned by Mr. Ferney Gooding and occupied by Mr. E. D. Conway and family, would also be devoured by the flames, but the well directed efforts of the firemen saved the building with only slight damage. Mr. Conway was awakened by the noise made by the stamping of the animals in the stables and immediately aroused members of his family, who in their excitement went out thinly clad and were cared for at the Colonial Inn across the street. Patrolman J. J. Moore thought of the family of Mr. Conway as soon as he noticed the flames and assisted them in making their escape. The household effects are probably damaged to some extent by the water, but there was no fire damage.

Messrs. M. A. Potter and D. W. Jamieson, employes of the city, were at the stables about 20 minutes before the fire alarm was turned in and they did not see any signs of fire at that time. The city has 19 head of horses and mules, seven of which were on the streets last night, two in the main part of the stables and nine in the building that was burned. Two horses which were incinerated were valued at $600, while the one which had to be killed was recently purchased at a cost of $250. All the animals which were lost were very valuable, the total estimated loss being $2,500. Alderman Fred W. Bonitz, chairman of the streets and wharves committee, stated that the animals were fairly well insured, though not to their full value. It is fortunate that the fire occurred on a Saturday night, for otherwise all of the teams might have been in the stables and been consumed. The loss of Mr. Orrell is estimated at $4,000 or $5,000 and it is said that his property was only partially insured.

In hurrying to the fire, having been informed that the place of business of his employer, Mr. J. W. Blake, was in flames, Mr. C. W. Stonebank, in an automobile, in an effort to pass between the fire engine stationed on the north side of Market at the Third street intersection and a wagon on the opposite side of the street, crashed into the wagon, which was demolished, and the occupants of the vehicle, Messrs. Geo. Guthrie, Will Harris and John Thorpe were thrown from their seats to the pavement, but fortunately neither was seriously injured. Mr. Guthrie received a bruise about the face, while Mr. Harris was hurt on the leg. Mr. Thorpe escaped uninjured. The wagon belonged to Mr. Marsden Sellers, who conducts a store at Seventh and Castle streets, and was borrowed by the occupants for the purpose of coming to the fire. The occupants of the wagon said that it was clearly an accident and they did not care to prefer charges against Mr. Stonebanks, who was accompanied to the City Hall by Patrolman J. J. Moore shortly after the collision. Mr. Stonebank will pay the amount of damage to the wagon, it was said.

Notwithstanding the unreasonable hour several hundred people gathered on Third and Market streets to witness the blaze and lingered until the fire had been extinguished.

Aldermen May Meet Monday Night.

A stated in the Star some few days ago there will probably be a meeting of the Board of Aldermen Tuesday evening for the purpose of further considering the enforcement of the sidewalk obstruction ordinance which has caused such a stir anmong the merchants and others affected. It is understood that a petition will be presented to the board asking that the ordinance be repealed or so modified as to permit the use of two feet of the sidewalk for the display of goods and products of the merchants. It is known that some of the Aldermen are in favor of granting the request of the merchants and it is probable that the action of the board last Monday night in ordering the ordinance enforced will be rescinded. The meeting has not yet been called, but the Mayor stated yesterday that he understood that a request would be made for a meeting Tuesday night.

Lumberton, N. C., Nov. 12.—This community was made sad this morning upon the announcement of the death of Mrs. Christian McNeill, which occurred at her home about three miles west of town last night about 12 o'clock. She had been sick only a few days and few people knew of her extreme illness. Mrs. McNeill was in her 81st year and had always enjoyed good health. She was one of the most highly esteemed ladies of this section and was loved by all who knew her. She is survived by two sons, Messrs. John H. and Henry D. SEABOARD TO GEORGETOWN.

Florence Report Says S. A. Line is Making That Way.

Florence, S. C., Nov. 12.—The probabilities of the Seaboard making a rush to this city are getting more and more positive. The dispatches from Georgetown say that the Seaboard has made arrangements there for the use of terminals and it is expected that they will soon enter that port. The Seaboard controls the road from Lumberton to Marion and from Mullins up to their line in North Carolina, and they are planning to get the McBee and Hartsville and Florence line all in one system to lead to Georgetown.

Without this line through here the system would not be complete and with it there would be the finest imaginable system of feeders through the richest and the most undeveloped part of this State of so great possibilities.

KILLED IN SPEED RACE

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 12.—Toby DeHymel, widely known driver of racing automobiles, was killed while participating in the races here this afternoon when his car lost a wheel and was wrecked. He drove in the last Vanderbilt cup race in New York and was known as the Aztec Indian driver.

The accident occurred during the 12-mile handicap race. DeHymel was rounding a curve, driving his Stoddard-Dayton racer at a furious clip when a front wheel flew off and the car crashed into an embankment. DeHymel was thrown clear of the car some distance down the track. When track attendants reached him he was dead with a brok steering wheel of the car clutched tightly in his hand.

MARKETS AWAIT NEW FACTORS

Unusually Quiet Day for Cotton—Fluctuations Ranged Within Eight Points—Spot Market Closed Quiet.

New York, Nov. 12.—The cotton market was very quiet today with business chiefly in the way of evening up for over the week-end, or pending fresh developments. Prices fluctuated within a range of about eight points, with the close quiet, but steady net one point higher to four points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 5 points in response to indifferent cables and private advices from Liverpool claiming that the South was offering cotton more freely at yesterday's advance. Southern advices, however, claimed continued firmness on the part of holders and offerings here were by no means aggressive. At any rate prices firmed up right after the call on covering for over the week-end and during the early trading showed a net gain of about 2 to 4 points.

There was a little more selling around 14.90 for May and the market eased off again later in the morning, but showed no weakness and ruled very quiet after the first half hour. Sentiment regarding the size of the crop seemed to be very much confused.

Receipts at the ports today 45,202 bales against 51,661 last week and 39,175 last year; for the week 350,000 bales against 376,608 last week and 277,066 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 5,151 bales against 4,688 last year and at Houston 11,472 bales against 10,393 last year.

LITTLE ACTIVITY IN STOCKS

Prices Have Moved Sluggishly Since Severe Decline After Election—Speculations Are Very Cautious.

New York, Nov. 12.—The speculation in stocks displayed very little initiative today. Prices moved sluggishly and indecisively. The severe decline after the election and the rebound which followed seemed to have reduced the commitments pressing for immediate settlement to insignificant proportions.

Today there was no urgent pressure of liquidation and on the other hand, demand was indifferent. Final prices showed insignificant changes from last night. The immediate easing of the money market in New York has not encouraged large extension of speculative commitments in stocks. The resources thus offered in loans are suspected to be the proceeds of sales of stockholdings on a large scale by interests often prominent in stock market operations. The position of power thus offered to recall credits and thus liquidation of stocks by present holders and at the same time secure resources for purchase of stocks to advantage in the resulting decline suggested a technical condition of the speculation that might prove easily vulnerable to attack. The suggestion instilled caution in the dealings of which the dullness was the consequence.

Bonds were steady. Total sales par value $852,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call from last week. Total sales for the day 157,500 shares.

EXPECT A BETTER DEMAND.

Spinners Await Developments Next Week—Quiet Day for Cotton.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, Nov. 12.—A quiet day with little interest taken in the market, the trade looking for a better demand next week from spinners, who they believe will take cotton freely on any recession from this price, and that eventually higher prices will rule. It is difficult to find anyone, who differs from this view of the course of prices, and fluctuations from day to day are considered to be simply the adjustment of interests previous to the expected demand from spinners. Receipts show some increase over last season as they are expected to do. We hear of shipments of cotton here for delivery of December. Liverpool is expected to be a shade lower on Monday.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. HIS DEATH SCENE.

A Stage Performance That Took Place Under Difficulties.

In an article on barnstorming in the Wide World Magazine P. R. Eaton describes a performance which took place under certain difficulties.

There had been an ice cream sociable just prior to our arrival in the hall, and no one had cleaned the stage. Mac had a new pair of broadcloth trousers and my scarlet tunic, also new. When a shot was fired he was to fall and before dying confess that he had killed old Fitzgerald.

The juvenile down front was not to speak till Mac had fallen and confessed. There he stood while Mac staggered about the stage looking for a clean place on which to fall. Mixed in with his lines he was making remarks to us in the wings sotto voce, while we were convulsed with laughter at his antics.

"I cannot die—oh, why didn't you have a grass mat?—I must not die—I shall ruin my breeches—I can't die—oh, this stage is afloat with ice cream—I—must—not—die."

Here the juvenile put in some side remarks of his own. "Oh, hurry up and die or I'll walk off!"

"Go ahead," retorted Mac, "and bring me a sack. I must—not—die. Well, if I must here goes—it's ruin to your tunic, Perce, and my breeches—oh, oh!" (He went down on one knee, then on one elbow and finally lay full length.) "The deed is done—I confess—I—murdered—Old Fitzger"— A realistic shiver and all was over, including the ruining of our clothes, as prophesied. The natives said it was the "best and most likelike death scene that had ever been given in that town."

THE MUSKRAT.

More People Trap This Little Animal Than Any Other.

In America nearly 10,000 people trap the musquash, or muskrat, every year. More people trap this little animal than any other. It is claimed that the greatest number of skins are taken in Minnesota and the Red river district. Most of the pelts are exported.

The skins are very uniform in color, usually a dark brown. However, those of Alaska and the Mackenzie district are very light in color. The black pelts or those which are nearly so come from the southern sections, although occasionally a few are found in other localities.

The muskrat is very prolific. In some latitudes, says Fur News, it has three litters of young in a summer and from three to five young in each litter. The animals are nocturnal in their habits, but are often seen during the day. Musquash, it is said, thrive best in sluggish streams, lakes and marshes. In appearance it is very much like the beaver, and its habits are very similar.

The muskrats that inhabit the ponds, marshes and shallow lakes build their houses of grass, weeds, etc., and plaster them together with mud. The house is built in the shape of a dome and is usually several feet above the water. The musquash that lives along the streams usually has its home in the banks of them. The entrance to this den is almost always beneath the water, but as the burrows range upward the dens are never filled with water except in times of freshets.

Color Blindness.

One thing is definitely shown by the tests that have been made for color blindness in various races—no race, however primitive, has been discovered in which red-green blindness was the universal or general condition, and this is a fact of some interest in connection with the physiology of color vision, for it seems probable that red-green blindness since it is not by any means a diseased condition represents a reversion to a more primitive state of the color sense. If this is so no race of men remains in the primitive stages of the evolution of the color sense. The development of a color sense substantially to the condition in which we have it was probably a prehuman achievement.—Professor R. S. Woodworth in Science.

A Gambler's Philosophy.

"There's no use in trying to buck against bad luck," said the successful gambler as he put down his glass of vichy and split. "If you see luck is going against you, chop out. If the fickle goddess of fortune is with you, woo her for all you are worth. That's the whole secret of the game. I've been gambling all my life, and I rarely lose. Why? Because I never take a chance against bad luck. Luck is bound to be either with you or against you. You win or you lose. The chances of breaking even are mighty slim. So I never buck bad luck."—New York Times.

How Inspiration Works.

"This sea poem of yours fairly smacks of the salt gale. It is palpably the result of genuine inspiration. You evidently planned it while upon the bounding deep."

"Well, to tell you the truth," said the poet, "I got the idea one day while sitting in a shop having my shoes cobbled."—New York Journal.

Could Have Got It More Easily.

Mrs. Newlywed—People are saying that you married me for my gold, Mr. Newlywed—What nonsense! If I'd simply wanted gold I could have got it with far less hardship and suffering in South Africa or Alaska.—Scraps.

FIRE IN CATHOLIC PROTECTORY.

Three Thousand Children Routed by Flames at Midnight.

New York, Nov. 12.—Three thousand boys and 1,500 girls, orphan inmates of the Catholic Protectory in the upper part of New York City, were routed from their beds by fire shortly before midnight last night. Thanks to the coolness and discipline of the 60 Christian brothers in charge of the institution, there was no panic and the shivering children went through the routine fire drill as calmly as on any of the weekly practice occasions.

The fire destroyed a five-story wing of the main building, but there was no loss of life and no injury. The blaze started in a basement bakery, spreading rapidly to the upper floors and thence to the boys' dormitory wards above.

Fortunately the alarm was given in time, and when the blaze reached the sleeping rooms the youthful inmates were marching like soldiers in long single files down the halls and through the court yards to an assembly hall in another building.

The girls, dormitoryed in a building 400 feet away from the one in which the fire started, were aroused by their attendants and put through the fire drill, but were not taken from the building, and there seemed to be no danger of the flames spreading.

Meanwhile three alarms had been turned in and fire engines and police were beginning to respond. The firemen found the place where the blaze had started so far consumed that no measures were taken to save it, and efforts were concentrated on preventing the spread of the flames. This was accomplished by the use of hose and chemicals. The burned building will cost $150,000 to replace.

FAMOUS VETERAN PASSES.

Gen. Robertson Was Member of the "Black Horse Cavalry."

Washington, Nov. 12.—Death has claimed another member of the Confederate Veterans of this city, one of the few survivors of the famous "black Horse Cavalry," that distinguished the campaign in Virginia during the Civil War, in the passing of General Beverly Holcomb Robertson, who died at his home here today.

Funeral services will take place Monday morning at St. Johns' Episcopal church, following which the body will be taken to Amelia county, Virginia, where interment will take place Tuesday.

General Robertson was born in Amelia county, Virginia, June 5, 1823, and his early life was spent on the farm in the Old Dominion.

He was appointed to West Point and graduated from that institution June 23, 1849. From West Point he was sent into the Western country, and back in the 50's he was an officer in the second dragoons which is now the second cavalry, U. S. A., and took an active part in suppressing the frequent Indian uprisings that marked the early life on the frontier in Nebraska and South Dakota.

CAUGHT AFTER LONG TRIP.

Fugitive From 'Frisco Went Around Horn on a Tramp.

New York, Nov. 12.—After a flight from San Francisco and a trip around the Horn on a tramp steamer, Robert Malone, aged 28, former confidential clerk and bookkeeper for the Metropolitan Light & Power Company, of San Francisco, was arrested near the Brooklyn Bridge this afternoon. The police say Malone confessed to his speculations and ascribed his downfall to fast living. He seemed indifferent to his fate.

Willie Haupt was the first to go crashing from the course. Sixty miles further Wagner too, sent his car rolling into the ditch. Then Nazzarre, reputed to be the world's most careful driver, bent his rear axle irreparably and was out of it. For the next 75 miles there was a battle royal between DePalma's Fiat, which had taken the lead and Bruce-Brown and Hemery in the Benz racers. Bruce-Brown running second with DePalma a few yards behind him, but two and a half minutes ahead on actual running time tried to shake off the Brooklyn Italian. DePalma retaliated with reckless efforts to pass Bruce-Brown, once nearly overturning his car at the grand stand corner, but when Bruce-Brown rounded the turn and shot into his second lap, DePalma was nowhere to be seen. Thousands of watchers in the densely packed grand stand slowly ticked off the two and a half minutes of DePalma's vantage, while his helpers stood on tip toe or climbed scantlings in their pit, peering vainly to catch sight of him. He had stopped on the back stretch, out of the race with a broken cylinder.

When Hemery roared across the finish a few minutes later it was a question whether Bruce-Brown could get in quick enough to beat him on running time.

BruceBrown had started three minutes later than Hemery.

Bob Burman was a lap behind the Benz men at the finish. More than any one else in the race he had suffered from the burning up of tires, stopping nine times and putting on ten new tires. In the last hundred miles, however, bad luck let him alone and he ran into an easy third position. Harry Grant, winner of the Vanderbilt cup this Fall, led all the Americans in his Alco until the 175th mile, when engine trouble stopped him dead on the track at a remote turn.

Arthur Chevrolet, in a Marquette-Buick, did fast work for about 150 miles, when a broken crank shaft stopped him for good.

The Lozier pair, Joe Horan and Ralph Mulford, both of whom finished the race, held a duel of their own about 50 miles in the rear of the leaders, the electric timing showing them to be tied to the fraction of a second at 242 mile mark. Horan, winner of the $3,000 Speedway Grand Prize at Atlanta on Monday this week, dropped slowly behind Mulford, who finished about four minutes ahead of him. Mulford was fourth and Horan fifth, while twenty seconds behind Horan was Joe Dawson's Marmon car, which almost overtook Horan in the last lap. Dawson was the last man to finish, all the starters being out of the race with broken engines. Fully 60,000 spectators saw the race.

Following is a table of standing of the contestants:

David Bruce-Brown, Benz, No. 10; time 5 hours, .. minutes 5:35 seconds.

Victor Memery, Benz No. 2; time, 5:..:6:77.

Bob Burman, Marquette-Buick No. 3. time 6:11:23.

Ralph Mulford, Lozier No. 4; time, ..:26:12.

Joe Horan, Lozier No. 5; time, 6:..:30:2.

Joe Dawson, Marmon No. 6; time, 9:30:22.

Ralph DePalma, Fiat, out at 390, broken piston.

Louis Wagner, Fiat, out at 305, upset.

Willie Haupt.., at, out at 210 miles, upset.

Louis Basle, Pope-Hartford, out at 320 miles, leaking piston.

Felix Nazzarre, Fiat, out at 320

*Later Dawson replaced Harround, Marmon.

Bruce Brown won the Grand Prize gold cup and about $6,000 in cash. Hemery won about $3,000 in cash.

Burman won about $3,000, which includes the $1,000 for being the first American to finish in an American car.

Wagner has two ribs broken when his car overturned.

USED MAILS TO DEFRAUD.

"Rev." Severance and Four Others Arrested in New York.

New York, Nov. 12.—Five men, including one described as the "Rev. Claude Severance," were arrested by postoffice inspectors today charged with using the mails to defraud through the El Progresso Banana Company and its finance agent, the International Finance Company. In addition to Severance the prisoners are Frank G. Walrous, president of the Banana Company; Oliver W. Simmons, secretary and treasurer; William L. Sanders, president of the finance company and H. L. Harvey. There four were taken in a raid on the concern's office; Severance was arrested in Brooklyn. When Walrous, Simmons, Sanders and Harvey were arraigned before a United States commissioner they denied the charge of fraudulent use of the mails. Walrous was held in $10.000 bail and the others in $2,500 each. Harvey and Sanders alone gave surety and the others, including Severance, who was held in $3,000 ba.. in Brooklyn, were locked up.

According to the Federal authorities the El Progresso Banana Company was projected in January, 1909, by Walrous, who was then living in Denver. The company was organized under the laws of Arizona and had its headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz., with a branch office at Houston, Texas, and has been selling stock in what is described as a banana plantation at La Ceiba, Honduras.

STANDARD OIL CASE.

Traffic Manager for Kentucky Company is Giving Evidence.

Jackson, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Under cross-examination this morning, Traffive Manager Charles Van Overbeak, of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, reaffirmed his testimony of yesterday when a witness for the prosecution in the United States suit vs. the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The latter corporation, it is charged, "through scheme and device," illegally received concessions from several railroad companies. Counsel for the government declare they will endeavor to show the Kentucky corporation as the "device."

Mr. Van Overbeak gave emphasis to his avowal that the two corporations were separate and distinct. As to the shipments which form the basis for the suit he testified that they were legitimate transactions between two corporations, the Indiana concern acting as the seller and the Kentucky concern the purchaser.

LOWER PRICES WILL RESULT.

Because of Bumper Crops Opinion of Secretary Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Lower prices for meats and other foods should be the result of bumper crops which the United States had produced this year, in the opinion of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

"We have had bumper crops," he said today, "and meat prices should come down; that is, if no combine is formed among the dealers. My views apply to all kinds of meat. The crops have been such that a falling in price is the inevitable result. The only thing that can defeat this will be if too great a toll is taken after the products leave the hands of the farmers and before they reach the consumers."

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12.—Charles E. Kohl, aged 56, of Chicago, president of the Western Vaudeville Association, died suddenly early today of neuralgia of the heart at his Summer home in Oconomowoo. Mr. Kohl was a former member of the theatrical firm of Kohl and Middleton.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 12.—John Linquist, aged 49, a member of the Greeley relief expedition into the Arctic region, committed suicide by drinking poison in a local hotel last night. He was in ill health and was without funds. Papers found among his effects show that he was a member of a Knights of Pythias lodge at San Antonio, Texas.

DEEP FALL BREAKING OF LAND

Topic for Discussion in November in Connection With Farmers' Co-Operative Demonstration Work—Good Crops.

(By C. R. Hudson.)

For a considerable number of years Southern farmers have been trying to produce large, profitable crops of corn on shallow soils. The records of corn growing show that they have failed. During this same period a few of the more progressive farmers have been breaking their lands from six to eight inches, and even to ten inches deep, and have produced from thirty to sixty bushels per acre at a small cost. For forty years the average depth of breaking land in North Carolina has been about four inches with an average yield of less than 15 bushels of corn per acre. Last year the men engaged in the Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work, broke three thousand acres from six to ten inches deep and harvested a little over 40 bushels per acre. The cost was about 25 cents per bushel.

Can we not learn a valuable lesson from the experience of these farmers? Let us study, briefly, some of the advantages of a deep soil. One of the most important problems connected with corn growing is a properly distributed supply of moisture. We cannot have this on shallow soils. The shallow soil is soon filled with water during rainfall. If the rains continue several days, the soil stays saturated with water. This keeps out the air. (Two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time). Corn will not grow unless air gets down to its roots. Therefore, corn fails during wet spells of weather. The excess of rainfall usually does much washing under such conditions. When the rains cease, the small amount of water held in a shallow soil is soon exhausted by evaporation and by being used by the corn, so that the corn now suffers for lack of moisture. With a deep soil these conditions do not exist. When rain comes, it sinks down into the lower parts of the deep soil, letting the air into the upper portions so that the corn continues its growth. When dry weather prevails the deep soil, by having caught previous rains, is able to supply moisture enough to keep the corn green and growing.

In this section we nearly always have a wet spell or a dry spell of weather during the period of corn growing. One usually follows the other. The effects of both extremes can be largely overcome by having a deep seed bed. Then, too, it stands to reason that there is more plant food in a deep soil than in a shallow one.

Some exceptions to these statements should be noted. A soil that is filled with water during a considerable portion of the year is not benefitted by deep plowing. If such soils were well drained, then deep breaking would be good for them. Many marshes and other wet soils would produce big crops if they were drained and deepened by plowing. Loose, sandy lands, with open porous subsoils, without any clay in them or under them, are not much benefitted by deep breaking. If much humus is to be turned under on them, then deep plowing gives much better results.

The time of deepening the soil is important. Many farmers wait 'till Spring to deepen their soils and often make poor crops because the subsoil was too wet to be plowed after the Winter rains had falen. The proper time to do deep breaking is during the Fall and early Winter, provided the soil and subsoil are dry enough. This permits several weeks' weathering to take place before Spring planting begins. On land that has never had the atmosphere down into it, is not a fit place to plant seed. This also allows the soil to be pulverized by the freezes.

Both the air and the freezes are very valuable in making plant food available for the use of crops. In doing deep breaking at any time, it is not advisable to turn very much of the raw subsoil out on top. Those who expect to make big crops next year should begin now to deepen the soil. If properly done, under average conditions, no further deep breaking will be necessary in the Spring. Then is the time to do a lot of discing and harrowing in order to make a nice, well pulverized seed bed.

DELAYED JUSTICE.

Young Man Confined Four Years in Houston Prison.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 22.—The delays of American courts so forcibly emphasized in the trial of the Crippen murder case in London, finds an example in this city. Floyd Brown, a young man, has been confined in the county jail here for the past four years without a trial on the charge of murder. He shot and killed a woman, Bessie Hearn, in a Travis street rooming house when she was leaving him to return to her home in the country. Brown says he has tried in vain to secure a hearing. The prosecuting attorney's excuse for this delay is that Brown has set up a plea of insanity and the lawyer is having him watched by experts in an effort to determine his mental condition.

FIGHTING THE BOLL WEEVIL

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 12.—Among the most recent suggestions for the elimination of the boll weevil is the planting of peanuts. This is but one of the hundred or more suggestions that have been made during the last three years, but it is becoming increasingly apparent that no campaign against the boll weevil which calls for the planting of any other crop besides cotton, will be generally adopted throughout the South.

This is not due to the ignorance of the Southern planters. The cause for this antipathy to any such means of fighting the boll weevil can be seen in the daily reports of any newspaper. With cotton prices as they now are and with the trend steadily upward as it has been during recent years, it is quite easy to see why the Southern cotton farmers refuse to plant any other crop. The Standard Oil Company and the steel trust and all the other alleged monopolistic corporations could never boast such complete control of any necessity of life as the Southern cotton farmers have.

When crop conditions are ideal the Southern cotton farmers can make a bale to the acre and such a crop will pay a large net profit compared with any other crop in the world, but when crop conditions or the boll weevil reduce the product of the farm to half or even less than half a bale to the acre, cotton prices immediately soar and what is lost in cotton is made up in higher prices. India, Africa and Asia strive in vain to supply sufficient cotton to anect materially the monopoly now so firmly held by the Southern States. If any progress is to be made in the war on the boll weevil it must be made by the use of enemies of the boll weevil.

Some progress is now being made along that line. Early planting of the crop gives it such an advance in growth before the boll weevil becomes active that it is able to withstand the insect's attack. Destruction of stubble in the Fall is helping and the United States Department of Agriculture is furnishing many suggestions which aid in the destruction of this very expensive crop pest.

Some idea of the profits from the cotton crop can be gathered from the record made by Southwest Texas during the season which is now drawing to a close. Early Spring frosts reduced the crop in many Southern States by as much as 50 per cent. In Southwest Texas, however, there is no frost. A large number of the farms particularly in the vicinity of San Antonio, made from half a bale to a bale an acre. With cotton prices hovering about 15 cents a pound and cotton seed prices higher than ever before, owing to the heavy demand for the various cattle feeds produced from this seed, these farmers have made fortunes this year. In fact, so profitable has the cotton crop been that a great many of the homeseekers who are purchasing lands in Southwest Texas are becoming cotton planters instead of growing citrus fruits or trying the numerous other crops which during recent years have become popular in this semi-tropical territory. This year hundreds of farmers planting their first crop of cotton have made net profits sufficiently large to pay for their land and all the agricultural implements necessary for its tillage. While possibly larger profits are made from onions, garden truck, fruit and alfalfa, the difference between the cost of preparing land for these crops and for cotton is a very big consideration.

So great has been the demand for cotton that ranches of from 20,000 to 50,000 acres in Southwest Texas are being broken up by colonization companies and rented in farms of 160 acres to farmers on the share plan. On this plan, if no crop is made, the owner of the land receives no rent for his land. This is an indication of their absolute faith in the cotton crop. Many of these large tracts are valued before their subdivision at from $10 to $25 an acre. On even a fairly good crop, such as was grown this year, the average rental received is eight dollar an acre. It will be readily seen that this is a very large interest on the investment. Moreover, this plan makes it possible for the farmer to accumulate a bank account with which in two or three years he is able to purchase the land he rents. In this way several large colonization companies are making their lands profitable within a year from their purchase and are at the same time gathering purchasers by one of the most inexpensive methods yet devised.

While the continued influx of farmers from the Middle West will advance the production of all the crops it is possible to grow in Southwest Texas, there is no doubt that this territory will continue to be the great factor in the cotton world, as long as the demand for cotton continues to grow faster than production as it now does. These conditions apply to a lesser extent throughout the South.

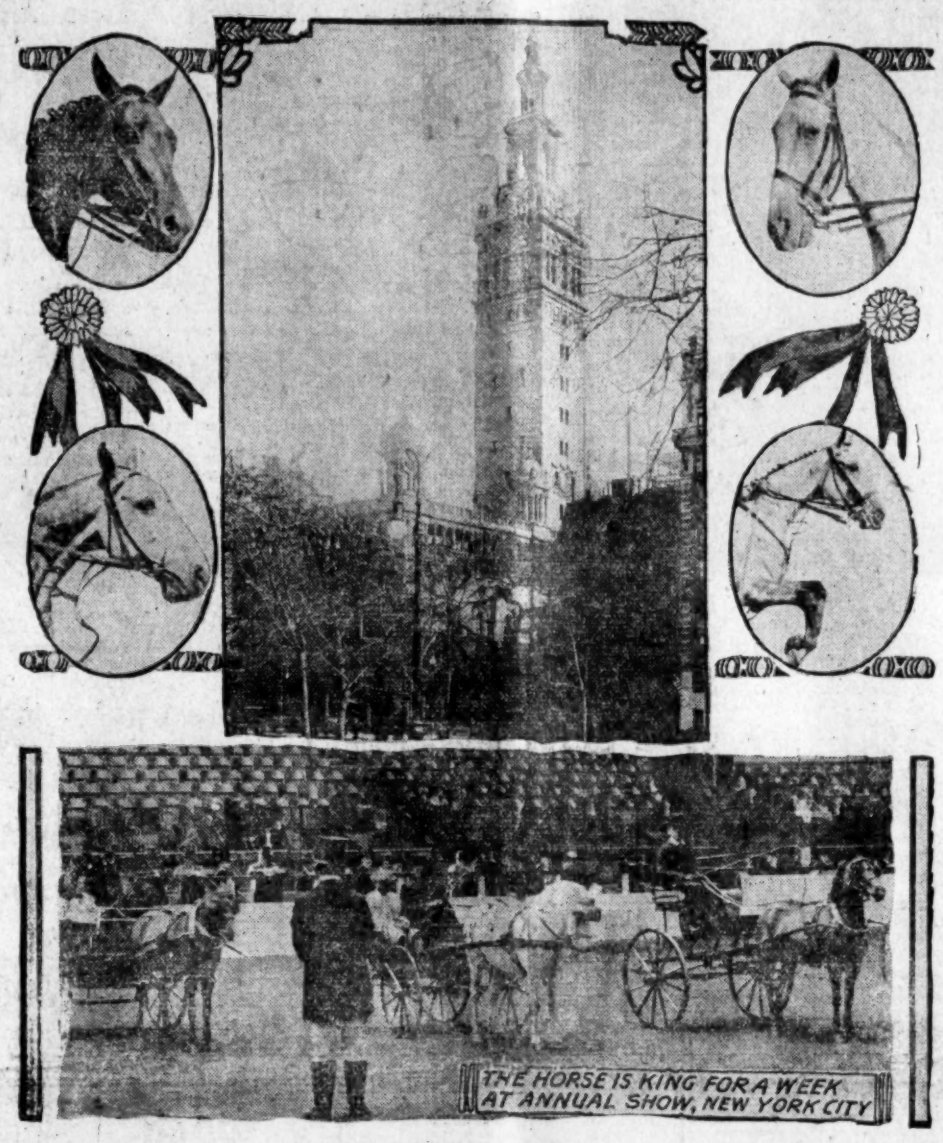
The Horse to Reign Again as King For One Short Week



New York, Nov. 12.—The horse is king again for a short week. The opening of the annual horse show in Madison Square Garden yesterday, is attracting the attention of owners throughout the United States and Europe. More crowned heads of Europe have sent horses to take part in the exhibition than ever before, while the entries from the United States demonstrate that the automobile and the aeroplane have not put the horse on the retired list. Society promises to make the show a memorial one for lavish dinners and display of gowns. Hundreds of prominent people from a score of cities have engaged boxes and seats.

TOURING IN SOUTH.

Interesting Announcement by Automobile Association, New York.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Nov. 9.—With the touring season in the Northern States gradually waning, the touring bureau of the American Automobile Association at 437 Fifth Avenue, New York, is now receiving many inquiries for Southern routes, and has a daily stream of callers who have trips in view in Dixieland. During the past six months, indicating the country-wide increase in automobile touring, the A. A. A. has had visitors from nearly every State in the Union, the greater number of whom have enjoyed the scenic beauties of New England and its generally excellent roads. Callers at headquarters have included members of the Automobile Club of Hawaii, while the Automobile Club of Southern California and other Western Clubs have been liberally represented.

A recent application for affiliation with the National organization is the Motor Touring Club of Jacksonville, which will be prepared to dispense hospitality and the latest Florida touring information to those A. A. A. motorists who visit Jacksonville in their Peninsular State wanderings. The Florida East Coast Automobile Association has signified its willingness to participate in the Florida State body; and the St. Petersburg Automobile Club of the West coast is another organization which will be included.

An influx of motorists is guaranteed for the forthcoming Grand Prize race at Savannah, where the Savannah Automobile Club is well prepared to take care of them. The Floyd County Automobile Association of Rome is another Georgian club which has recently been formed and will be active in welcoming the motoring wayfarer.

Correspondence at A. A. A. National headquarters indicates that a score of Southern clubs and several State Associations will be added to the membership roll, which now has a total excess of 31,000. The plan of the local club, then the State Association, and finally the National organization, is demonstrating that it is the best method to secure improved automobile conditions in the matter of good roads, the collecting and disseminating of touring information and satisfactory legislative measures, not losing sight of the fact that contests of endurance, economy, and speed are better governed and regulated.

THE PINEHURST SEASON

Programme Leaves No Open Dates on the Calendar.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov.12.—While the opening of the Holly Inn on Saturday next, marks the formal commencement of the Pinehurst season, midseason beginning when the doors of the magnificient Carolina swing back on Saturday, January 7th, the village annually claims many from the middle of October, some of whom remain until late in May, year after year finding increasing members flocking here during the Winter months, for the enjoyment of outdoor life in this sunny clime where "Winter" is merely a misnomer for perpetual autumn.

The season's programme of sports and social pleasures leaves no open dates upon the calendar. The Country Club's schedule begins Thanksgiving week and continues through April, including numerous golf, tennis, trap shooting, and pistol events. Fox hunting is to feature through the presence of Mr. James T. Twitty of Buffalo, and his pack of fox hounds, and the various equestrian gyfkhanas will afford entertainment for the entire village. Baseball will provide excitement for devotees of the national game, and riding and driving will vie with autoing which becomes an important factor through the rapid development of the Capital Highway Association route to Southern Winter resorts. Socially the season promises to be a gay one, the holiday cotillion at the Holly Inn preceding the brilliant affairs which enliven the season at the Carolina, afternoon tea at the Country Club, numerous dinners and dances, and various entertainments combining to round out weeks long to be remembered.

The Summer has been a busy one and much has been accomplished in the way of improvement and extension, village beautification and the like. Thus early the demand for cottage accommodations bids fair to exceed the supply and hotel bookings are very large, indicating a season which will rank with the best of those in the remarkable history of this unique resort which has sprung into world-wide fame in 15 short years.

RICE GROWERS.

Organizing a Selling Agency for Four Valley States.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 12.—Rice growers of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi are now voting upon a proposition to organize a central selling agency to handle their rough rice. The mills of these States have joined the farmers in this movement. The wholesalers and retailers form the protesting element It is claimed that although some rice has sold as low as $2 per bag this year, that the consumer is getting it no cheaper than when the rice brought the farmer $4 per bag. The central selling agency is supposed to do away with the middleman who keeps down the price to the farmer and boosts it to the consumer.

LETTER FROM THE CAPITAL

(By Dr. Walter C. Murphy.)

Washington, D. C., Nov . 12.—The citizens of the District of Columbia, as is well known, do not exercise the privilege of franchise, but they take a lively interest in Presidential and Congressional elections. Before the newspaper offices Tuesday night thousands congregated to hear the latest returns as they were flashed on the canvass fresh from the telegraph wires. The gathering last night was remarkable for that absence of enthusiasm which usually greets election returns in this city. Faces of former champions, such as Roosevelt, Taft, Foraker, Depew, Sherman, et id omne genus, that in days past received the liveliest enthusiasm, were received Tuesday night almost in silence. This was due to the large number of Republicans present, who heard with grim silence the people's echo of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

But for the squads of mounted police and the large number of officers on foot which had to line up on either side of the tracks to permit the street cars to plough their way slowly through the crowds, the affair in Washington partook more of the nature of a funeral than a jollification.

The election of Dr. Woodrow Wilson as Governor of New Jersey, will be gratifying to his many friends in the South; and if the truth must be told the people are now looking to that section of the country for those ideas of constructive statesmanship which are required to meet new conditions necessary to the prosperity and welfare of this Republic.

And in this connection the decline and fall of the Roman Empire by Edward Gibbon is a history that should be put into the hands of every school boy in the land. We want the kingdom but not the king. We want the empire but to h—l with the Emperor.

No returns have been more gratifying than the overwhelming majority accorded to Maj. Charles M. Stedman in the Fifth Congressional District in North Carolina. His many friends in Washington, who know his intrinsic

RIVERS & HARBORS CONGRESS

Seventh National Convention at Washington—Early in December. Congressman Ransdell Talks of the Work.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—For the first time in the history of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, whose seventh National convention will be held in this city December 7th, 8th and 9th, next, has the financial endorsement of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, been secured.

Last year the National Rivers and Harbors Congress had 3,850 delegates in attendance upon its sixth convention, but it is thought by the officers of the Congress that upwards of 5,000 delegates will be drawn hither during the first week in December not only for the purpose of witnessing the beginning of the last session of the Sixty-first Congress, but also to participate in the proceedings of the great waterway organization, of which Representative Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana, is president, and which stands for a "waterway policy and not a waterway project."

The benefits of a fixed and definite governmental policy on all questions are conceded. The improvement of our rivers and harbors is in no sense a political question, but is an economic question in the truest meanig of the term. It appeals to all conditions of trade and commerce and it is a question which intelligent public demand is hastening to a conclusion that cannot fail to be the utmost possible benefit to trade and industrial conditions in the United States

Congressman Ransdell who has for the past ten years been an enthusiastic believer in an annual river and harbor bill and who has in season and out urged such a policy as a member of the rivers and harbors committee of the House believes the time has come when the hands of the committees of Congress dealing with this subject should be supported by an assemblage in the National capital December next of such generous proportions as will show Congress the necessity for a broad and a comprehensive policy of waterway development.

"There is a growing teudency in the country," said Mr. Ransdell, "to build up strong local organizations everywhere which is a magnificent thing in itself provided these enthusiasts do not overlook the fact that their local projects cannot be carried through successfully unless the great National policy of their parent organizations be adopted by the Federal Congress.

"The work that the National Rivers and Harbours Congress has been doing has been a work of love and yet it needs the help of local organizations as it does of trade bodies as well as individuals to make it as it aims to be nationally educational in character.

"The forthcoming convention should be the largest in our history for there is much yet to be done before a national policy of waterway improvements is written into the statute books. We have yet much to yield and much to acquire before we realize our aims and every organization of whatever character should lend a hand in the work we have been doing to the end that sporadic appropriations for widely separated projects may be abandoned and that the coming river and harbor bill be modelled along national rather than along local lines."

AT THE UNIVERSITY.

All Eyes Turned Toward Thanksgiving Game.—Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 12.—The all absorbing topic of conversation in the University, on the campus, and everywhere about Chapel Hill is the present Carolina football team. The question of the day here seems to be "what is wrong with the team?" Coach Brides is certainly up against a hard proposition. He has worked, labored, taught the men the game and almost implored them to play football as a team, and so far it seems to no avail. The season thus far has proven a dismal failure, and all loyal lovers of the game are naturally disappointed. There still remains three games on the varsity schedule, and there seems to be a spirit over the college to discard the past and start anew with the game in Norfolk next Saturday with the Washington & Lee eleven. If this game is won Carolina has mighty good chances of turning failure into success for the season; the South Carolina game and Virginia will alone remain on the schedule.

It seems that the Richmond Times-Dispatch was very near right when they pointed out, in comment of the V. P. I. game last Saturday, that what Carolina lacks is team work. In that game the Tar Heels fought gamely and with magnificent spirit, but the men fought separately and the machine-like team from Blacksburg simply ran over our boys.

The coaching and work with the team this week has been extremely hard, secret practice being used every afternoon. The coaches, team, students and everyone here are looking forward to the Washington & Lee game as the decisive game of the year.

Doubly interesting is this game because of the old time rivalry of the two teams. They are playing for a trophy cup offered by the Newport News Chamber of Commerce to the team winning the best two out of three games of a series. In 1907 and 1908 the two teams played 0 to 0. Last year Carolina won 6 to 0. So if the Tar Heels win this year the trophy will come back to Chapel Hill. This will make the team fight all the more.

By comparative scores it is hard to dope out the winner. Davidson trimmed Carolina 6 to 0. Washington & Lee won from Davidson 14 to 12. Here the advantage seems to be with the Virginians. On the other hand, V. P. I. won from Washington & Lee 23 to 0 and from Carolina 20 to 0; while Georgetown ran away with the Lexington lads 52 to 0 and Carolina held the Catholic aggregation to one touchdown and two field goals. The advantage seems to be slightly with the Virginians, but they recently cancelled a game with A. & M. in order to get into better shape for Carolina, and have been working hard for the past two weeks, so it is hard to tell who will win. Carolina, though handicapped by Brown's absence from centre because of a sprained ankle, will fight hard and the loyal supporters are earnestly hoping for a victory which will mean a turning point in Carolina's present downward gait.

TEXAS JOBBERS.

Thinking of Operating Own Steamship Line From New York.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 12.—Operating their own line of steamships between New York and Texas, that is the plan of the Texas Hardware Jobbers' Association and they are now negotiating with the Seaboard-Gulf Steamship Company, the new competitor of the Mallory and Texas City lines, for a big block of the stock of that company with the view of so operating it as to hold down freight rates to this territory. The hardware men of Oklahoma have also been asked to join in the move. There is much complaint over freight rates, the same complaint which caused the Boston Chamber of Commerce to send a special committee to Texas to investigate and report upon some port to which a boat line could be operated out of Boston to the Southwest. This committee recommended Houston as the pivotal point for such a line. The new Seaboard line has announced Velasco as its terminal, a point well within the Houston territory. The hardware men claim they are making progress and that the steamship line has received their proposition cordially.

IRRIGATION IN TEXAS.

Census of Just What Has Been Done is Being Taken Now.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 12.—A complete irrigation census of Texas, which will show all irrigation equipment and areas subjected to and available for irrigation, will be taken under the direction of William L. Rockwell, of the Department of Agriculture, assisted by O. F. Busby, census department. Mr. Busby, who was in charge of the manufacturing census of Texas, just completed, has arrived in San Antonio to assume his new duties with Mr. Rockwell. The census will be of the greatest importance to the State and will be the first of its kind ever taken. The task is a huge one. It will show all of the lands now under irrigation or which might be put under irrigation. It is expected the census, when completed, will show a vast area subject to irrigation if the water is properly handled and conserved. It is being taken because of the great interest in irrigation in Southwest Texas. The report will be issued in bulletin form and can be used as an official guide by prospective purchasers in selecting land in Texas.

Read Star Business Locals.

READS LIKE A ROMANCE.

Story From Mexico of Woman's Heart and Woman's Style.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 12.—A story comes from Mexico vouched for by the authorities but which reads like a romance of Spain or Italy, where bandits are actors and deeds of crime a background in a tragedy centering around a woman's heart and a woman's smile.

The romance comes to light with the capture of the captain of a noted band of outlaws, who robbed the Tallamantes ranch on October 13th. The man whose name inspired terror in two states on account of being hard pressed by the rurales, the mounted police of Mexico, sought the protection of friends in Parral and the treachery of one led to his apprehension. It transpires that his name is Alfredo Villa and the police claim he has killed seven men that they know of and that he was the leader of the three mountaineers who rode into the city of Chihuauhua on the morning of September 8th last and slew Claro Reza.

Not long before the murder Villa and Reza were sworn brothers in crime. They robbed and murdered together; slept, ate, drank, sang and danced together. Both fell in love with the same woman during one of their forays. She was a slim, beautiful daughter of a rich ranchero with Castilion blood in her veins. They quarreled and separated. Both formed bands of outlaws. With forged letters of introduction Reza, representing himself as a mining man, gained hospitality at the house of the ranchero and courted the daughter. Luck was against him, however. When he was on the eve of winning her hand he was apprehended, tried, convicted and imprisoned in the Chihuahua penitentiary on the charge of stealing cattle.

The success of his rival rankled in Villa's heart, and he wrote Reza that he would kill him on sight. This letter was opened by the authorities. The depredations of the band to which Villa belonged became more and more terriorizing. Reza told the authorities that if they would parole him he would either capture or kill Villa. They agreed and Reza was commissioned to fulfill his promise. Liberty was to be his reward. He established communication with some of his mountain friends who in time informed him that Villa would arrive in the city of Calhuahua, September 8th. Accordingly, Reza took a stand in front of a little meat market on Avenue Zaroo. Soon Villa only slightly disguised, appeared with two companions. Villa immediately recognized Reza who evidently became paralyzed at the sight of his old friend and companion, for he stood still and was riddled with bullets from the gun of Villa without even attempting to protect himself.

After committing the crime the three bandits fled followed by eight rurales. They were intercepted in their sight by several citizens of El Rancho de la Olla but escaped without the loss of a man or even a wound, and succeeded in eluding the rurales. October 12 the rich Tallamantes ranch was robbed.

The rurales suspected Villa who was forced to seek the portection of friends in Parral. The ranchero has taken his daugnter to Paris.

TRANS-MISSISSIPPI CONGRESS.

Pan-American Affair at San Antonio Gathering This Fall.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 12.—The most elaborate banquet ever given in the South, the toast list of which will contain more distinguished names than at any of recent years, will open the 21st annual session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, convening here November 22-25. Among the speakers will be Wm. Jennings Bryan, United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, and Senor Calderon, Ambassador to United States from Bolivia. These are but three names of a lengthy list of men who are known internationally and whose words will be of interest not only to this country, but to foreign Nations as they will speak on the great problems now being threshed out in the Western Hemisphere.

The banquet will be given on the evening of November 21st at the Gunter Hotel, a new million dollar structure whose great dining room, modeled on the dining room of the Hotel Maejstic in Paris, will be elaborately decorated. Between 400 and 500 covers will be laid at $10 a plate. Adding to the significance of the occasion is the fact that it will also be the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, marking the close of a year that has seen the greatest step forward yet in the commercial and industrial development of this city and Texas.

President Fred W. Cook, of the Chamber of Commerce, will be the toastmaster and the speakers will be almost exclusively from the distinguished guests of the city and Congress. Of these guests there will be from 100 to 150. They will include several ambassadors and ministers from foreign countries, South American and Central American diplomats members of the Mexican government and Governors of the Mexican States, with United States Senators and Congressmen, the Governors of the majority of the Western States, several of whom will be accompanied by their staffs, railroad presidents, the heads of great industrial corporations and men distinguished generally in the various business and professional lines. No expense will be spared to make this banquet eclipse anything of the kind ever given in the South as at no past session of the Congress has there been so many distinguished delegates or men of international fame. The convention will be in reality a Pan-American Congress and it is planned to make the banquet a brilliant opening to the three days' session.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. It's positively guaranteed for stomach, liver or kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c at Robert R. Bellamy's.

PINEAPPLES IN TEXAS.

Experiments Being Conducted on Gulf Coast of Empire State.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 12.—The growing of pineapples along the Gulf coast south of San Antonio will be an industry of the near future according to the growers now experimenting with the fruit that Mexico a few miles to the south is now shipping in constantly increasing quantities. Although the cultivation of pineapples on the Gulf coast in an extensive way is still in its infancy, it promises in a few years to take a prominent position in agricultural interests.

Near Tampico pineapples have been grown by the native planters for many years, mostly in a small way for the local trade and it has only been recently that efforts have been made by them to export the fruit. Peter Lee in 1902 bought a tract of land in the Lake Aamalahua district and began experimenting with pineapples. He prospered so well that he increased his acreage. The land is rolling and sandy, an ideal place for the fruit. His success has led to the starting of a number of other large plantations by a Kansas City corporation, Chicago and New York capitalists, in addition to a large number of Mexican plantations.

The American plantations are going into the business to export the fruit as soon as their plants begin bearing. Mr. Lee has some 75,000 pineapple plants set out and is constantly increasing his fields. In setting out a pineapple plantation the bed should be laid out on rolling ground which is well drained. The most approved plan is to make the beds about 12 feet wide, rows 34 inches apart and the plants 24 inches apart in the rows. This plan will give 5,320 plants to the acre. The young plants will begin to bear 20 months from the time of setting out and in addition to the profit derived from the sale of the fruit there is also a considerable profit in the young slips which the plants throw out after the first year, especially if the variety planted is a standard one. The first year there will be a harvest of about ten thousand slips from an acre and the second year this yield will be doubled. These slips are now worth $40 per thousand. The profits are enormous. It costs, for expense of ploughing, disking, etc., $199.64 an acre and the net profit is $334.40 an acre. This statement does not include the returns from selling any slips which would greatly add to the profits per acre.

CATARRH
A SYSTEMIC BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is not merely an affection of the mucous membranes; it is a deep-seated blood disease in which the entire circulation and greater part of the system are involved. It is more commonly manifested in the head, nose and throat, because of the sensitive nature of these membranes, and also because they are more easily reached by irritating influences from the outside. The symptoms of Catarrh, such as a tight feeling in the head, nose stopped up, throat clogged and dry, hacking cough, etc., show that the tiny blood vessels of the mucous membranes are badly congested and inflamed from the impurities in the circulation. To cure Catarrh permanently the blood must be purified and the system cleansed of all unhealthy matter. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head, goes down to the bottom of the trouble and makes a complete and lasting cure by PURIFYING the blood. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, the head is cleared, breathing becomes natural and easy, the throat is no longer clogged, and every unpleasant symptom of the disease disappears. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and for this reason is the most certain cure for Catarrh. Book on Catarrh and medical advice free to all who write.

Shoemaking Secrets

The most important part of a shoe—wear considered—is the sole. The best old-method tanned sole leather is none too good for this purpose, yet many manufacturers use quick tannages of cheap leathers and "fill" the soles with glucose and other adulterations to cover defects. The insole in some shoes is cut from such thin stock that it cannot be channelled to receive the stitch when the upper and the welt are sewed on. A piece of canvas is often substituted for the leather, channelled up to hold the shoe together.

Counters are often made of canvas stiffened with glue. They cost less than solid leather, but the heat from the foot crumples them. Toe boxes, too, can be made of canvas instead of leather, and sometimes for linings a cheap grade is substituted away down inside where you can't see. Heels are almost always made of pieces of sole leather fitted together in glue; sometimes the very worst of scrap is used, topped with a fair grade of "top lift". These are the parts the man who wears the shoe never sees. He buys these on faith. There are lots of other secrets in the shoe business.

There are no secrets about the Craddock Shoe. The soles, insole (5) and outer sole (4), come from the very finest, toughest and the most expensive sole leather money can buy. The insole is as heavy as lots of makers use for outer soles.

The counters (3) are the best one-piece counters made from the best sole leather. Only one grade of linitg—the best—is used all the way through. The top lift (2) of the heel in the Craddock Shoe costs more than the whole heel and top lift of some other shoes made at this price. Vamps (7), tops (8), facings and stays (9) are all cut from pieces of the finest leather.

The Craddock Shoe is not "skinned" in any particular. There are no hidden weaknesses to develop after the shoe is bought. There are no dishonest savings or profits—taken from worth and wear.

The Craddock Shoe, made in all leathers, sold for $3.50 and $4.00 everywhere, will wear 30 days longer than any other shoe at the same price.

THE NATIONAL BIRD AGAIN IN EVIDENCE FOR THANKSGIVING DECORATIONS

EVERY housekeeper tries to do herself proud in getting up the Thanksgiving dinner. Besides the snowy linen, sparkling silver and glass and savory dishes, some decorations are needed to make the festive occasion quite complete. These decorations are no small item of expense if purchased in the art shops, where hand work brings its price. Any woman or girl may, however, make her own decorations at very small expense and in a short time. I am giving several Thanksgiving decorations for the table which may be worked out very attractively at small expense and trouble.

The Thanksgiving dinner table scheme shown in the illustration is an instance of what can be done in this line by the hostess with little means at her command.

Despite the fact that Thanksgiving day is an American celebration, many of the turkey novelties used by us for decorations are imported. They are carefully designed and put together, and the festal bird is represented in a variety of positions, from the quiet, dignified strut, with tail drawn downward and closed, to the attitude of triumphant victory, with head thrust upward and tail spread in a wide fan. The two papier mache turkeys which roost on the top of the basket handle in the center of the table are of this imported variety of bird. The basket itself is of the new split bamboo in a rich shade of brown and is filled with nuts and fruit. Branching out from the centerpiece are wheel-like spokes of strung raisins and cranberries. Evergreen, too, is twined about the basket handle to add a touch of greenery to the centerpiece.

Important looking turkeys, also of papier mache, are arranged at each plate as place cards, and the candle shades are trimmed with wheat. Such a decoration is easy to carry out, and the expense is trifling.

A decoration for Thanksgiving dinner at which a number of children are included should not be the conventional fruit and floral trimmings, but should please the young rather than the artistic sense. Here is something juvenile:

Have as a centerpiece a chicken coop made from heavy brown paper pasted on to mailing tubes to imitate logs. The fence to the chicken yard could be of wire wound with vines. Roosting on it and in the yard could be turkeys in all sizes.

These come in papier mache, and many of them could be candy boxes, later given as favors. Turkeys may also be used to hold candles by cutting holes in the backs of good sized, steady birds which will not topple. The shades may be tiny pumpkins, such as are used at Halloween, but without the grotesque faces.

Another centerpiece which will delight children is a pumpkin coach drawn by a long double line of small turkeys. The roadway may be of moss stretched like a broad path the length of the table.

The driver of this chariot can be a doll dressed in Puritan costume. At one side can be placed a toy ladder on which other Puritan dolls and an Indian or two are waiting to mount. At dessert the lid of the coach can be removed to show long orange ribbons, one for each child present. When these are pulled trifling favors are drawn out.

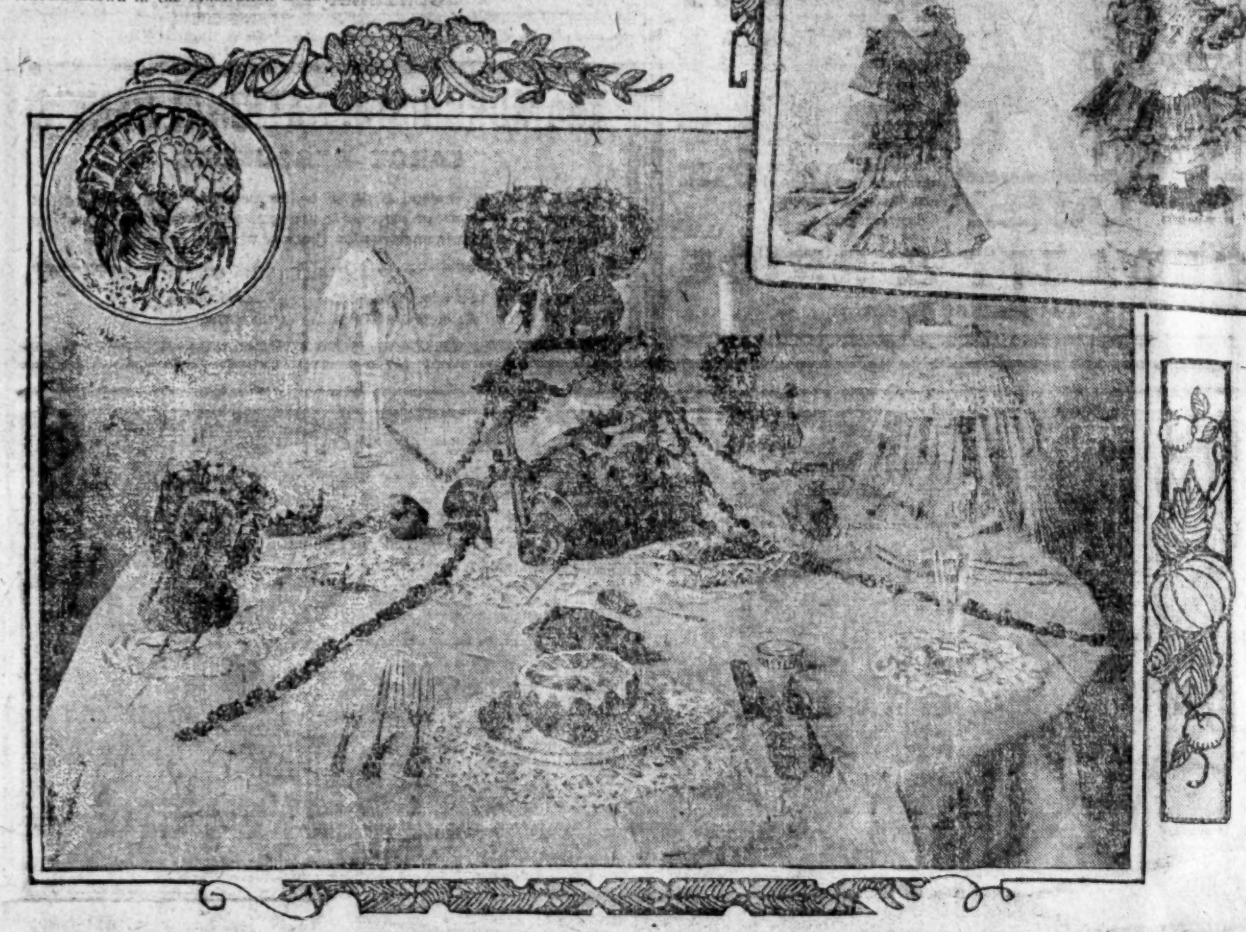
The favors seen in the cut are the newest of the season's showing and are appropriate alike for the children's and the grownups' table. The dolls are of bisque dressed in crape paper costumes.

After the family Thanksgiving dinner the children of the party may like to indulge in a good romp, and as an outlet for juvenile energy an apple race is fine. For this game use large round apples and let the participants gather them into a bowl with small teaspoons, seeing who can get the most apples in the receptacle.

An apple drawing contest is good sport. Let each one draw some picture in which apples are a prominent feature. It may be historical, allegorical or just plain apple. Vote for the best one and award a prize. See how many words can be made in ten minutes from the word apple, such as pea, plea, lap, leap, and so on.

The aeroplane will enter this year into the Thanksgiving decorative schemes, but it produces a more up to date than really attractive effect.

DAPHNE DEAN.



THE THANKSGIVING TABLE IN TURKEY TIME

A "Baby" Shower

A club of young matrons gave this shower for a prospective mother who was soon to present the club with the first baby, which all had agreed was to have the distinction of being the club baby, just as many colleges honor the first "class" baby. The invitations were sent out on cards bearing the cutest picture of a "sunbonnet" baby under a big parasol with the rain coming down in torrents. These cards were done in water colors and were perfectly fascinating. Pink was the color scheme, with touches of baby blue here and there. The table centerpiece at the luncheon was a doll sized baby carriage with a bow of pink and blue ribbon tied on the handle and filled with tiny pink rosebuds. The place cards were charming paper roses, with baby faces peeping out from the center of the blossom, the name lettered in gold on a tiny card. The bonbon dishes were little metal baby carriages bought at a toyshop for a few pennies apiece. The candle shades carried out the rose idea.

This is the novel way in which the shower was presented: Just after luncheon the bell rang and the maid announced "some one to see the ladies." So all the club members went into the living room and found a stunning small child dressed as a French nursery maid, and to the honored matron she wheeled a good sized doll carriage filled with parcels, each tied with pink and blue ribbon. Opening these articles took some time, and the prospective baby had a number of beautiful and useful articles added to its layette.

Now the Choir Boy Lace Tunic

FASHION is ever partial to ecclesiastic effects. We have the capuchin hood, the medieval stole, the religieuse cape, the bishop sleeve and a dozen of other style features borrowed from the clergy, and here is the choir boy's little surplice reproduced in lace and added to milady's costume.

In Paris this choir boy tunic is called a "chemise," and the little garment, which always fits loosely and falls beneath hip and knees, has certainly a youthful charm. The capuchin hood is also illustrated in the photograph.

POISON AND POISONING

A GREAT number of poison cases which occur are due to extreme carelessness. Various poisonous substances frequently employed in the household are left lying carelessly about.

For instance, salts of lemon, spirits of salts, carbolic acid, etc., are often allowed to lie about even in houses where there are children, while it is by no means an uncommon practice to fill old medicine bottles with lotions, liniments and other poisonous substances, allowing the old labels to remain on or leaving them without labels.

In such instances it is not surprising that cases of poisoning are so frequently met with. It seems hardly necessary to say that all poisonous substances should be plainly labeled and kept apart by themselves, and some very careful housewives attach tiny bells around the throats of the bottles so the tinkles will attract the user's attention.

There are many different kinds of poisons, but they may for convenience be classed under two heads—corrosive or burning in their action and noncorrosive, those which do not burn. The first thing you have to ascertain is whether the poison swallowed is a corrosive or a noncorrosive. The patient may be unconscious or he may be in ignorance of what he has swallowed.

The general symptoms of corrosive poisoning are severe cramps in the stomach, often accompanied with sickness, diarrhea and unconsciousness. When these symptoms appear in one or more persons soon after eating it is fairly conclusive evidence of poisoning.

If it is a corrosive poisoning there will be signs of burning around the lips and on the tongue of the patient. Remember, if there is any burn visible no emetic must be given. Nausea must on no account be induced, as it only causes further injury to the internal parts which are already burned. Oil may be given to soothe and protect the burned coats of the stomach and throat. If oil cannot be obtained give the white of an egg in a little water.

In cases where the poison is known this ought to be followed by an antidote.

If there are no signs of burning about the patient it is safe to assume that it is a noncorrosive poison, and your object then is to induce sickness immediately by giving an emetic. A simple emetic generally at hand is salt and tepid water and a little mustard mixed together.

If you are able to get sulphate of zinc it is very prompt in its action. The dose for an adult is from twenty to thirty grains given in a tumblerful of warm water.

Failing these remedies, soapy or even greasy water taken warm and in sufficient quantities may be effective. If you are so situated that you have nothing to administer tickle the back of the throat either with a feather or with your finger. Of course a physician should be summoned as soon as possible.

The Children's School Lunch

LIKE all other affairs of domestic management, the putting up of the school luncheon is sure to become an annoying and burdensome matter if it is not planned for in advance. "Oh, dear, there's nothing in the house for Katherine's or Tom's lunch," moans the mother at a time when the basket should be packed for use. There is, as a rule, no excuse for this state of affairs. The proper thing to do is to make a list of the daily lunch menus best suited to the children's good and the means of the family, say for a week in advance, and make a special point of keeping the needful supplies on hand. There should, besides, be plenty of paraffin paper on hand and a ball of clean white cord.

Nearly all school children need fats to keep up the supply of bodily fuel, so butter and oil, as well as the various meat fats, should find a place in the daily lunch. But since the genus child is apt to bolt his lunch this should contain plenty of vegetable matter, which is to be found in celery, lettuce, cress and the like. All these green things make delicious sandwiches.

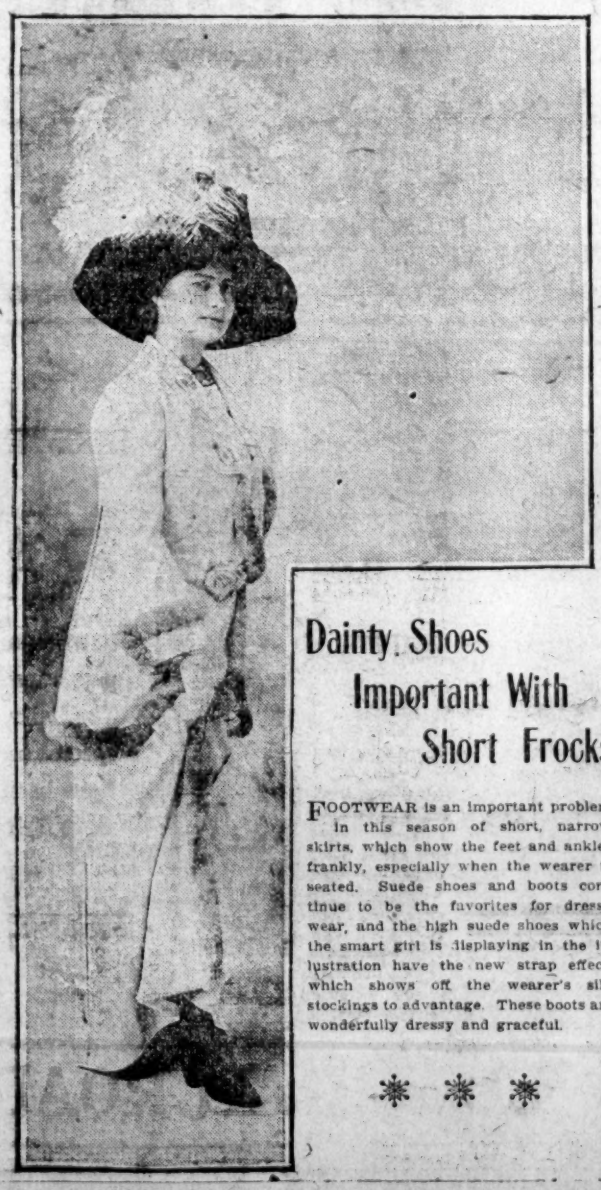
It is hardly necessary to speak of the fruits. Fortunately there are few children who do not crave this healthy form of food. Apples, oranges and bananas are the staple lunch box fruits. But if these are too dear dried fruits thoroughly soaked, then cooked slowly in sweetened water, are by no means to be despised.

As to sweets, try to avoid doughnuts and pie. Gingerbread and plain cakes may be used sparingly, but bread spread with butter and maple or dark brown sugar is well liked. Plain candy made from brown sugar, a handful of raisins and some dates or figs are all good things to put in the lunch box to satisfy the craving for sweet food.

The folding tin boxes now so much in use are great conveniences. Candy boxes answer very well, and if a school bag is carried the lunch need only be wrapped in a parcel. Children usually like to help to get up their lunches and will as they grow older learn to do it all for themselves.

A NEW MATERIAL.

A new material for little folks' coats and caps is sealskin velour. It comes in an exceedingly soft, silky thick pile velvet, light and warm and very useful, as it does not easily crease. It is not to be thought of as an imitation fur cloth in any sense, but more as a handsome velour.



Dainty Shoes Important With Short Frocks

FOOTWEAR is an important problem in this season of short, narrow skirts, which show the feet and ankles frankly, especially when the wearer is seated. Suede shoes and boots continue to be the favorites for dressy wear, and the high suede shoes which the smart girl is displaying in the illustration have the new strap effect, which shows off the wearer's silk stockings to advantage. These boots are wonderfully dressy and graceful.

In Line With The Fashions

A few seasons back milady shivered through the winter in pumps and thin silken hose, short skirts blowing in the breeze, and if any furs were worn at all they were small and merely draped the shoulders, more for appearance than for warmth. How different are the styles this season! The low shoes were abandoned with the first hint of cold weather for high boots. Stormy days see those of tan and dress occasions of warm velvet. Low shoes will be conspicuous by their absence this winter.

The tapestry covered hats, the tapestry drawn tight over them, are among the smart things in headgear. They are promised a long run. Very effective color schemes are possible with these tapestry hats, which are of dull and soft old colors on light grounds, but treated wrongly they are capable of queer results.

For women who seem to have everything there is a new jewel case made of steel and asbestos which is perfectly fireproof. It is of generous size, 10 by 7 inches, and is made with two trays, divided into compartments for rings, bracelets, trinkets, etc., while in the lower section is a soft pad for brooches, watches or miniatures. Brass handles finish the top and sides. This case comes covered with blue, red, black or tan leather and is lined with dark velvet.

The separate blouse is more in evidence than ever this winter. Many of these blouses are made with the seamless sleeve, the tuck in one form or another appearing on the sleeves.

The materials for dressy gowns are lovely. For formal wear velvet is again in high place, and there is nothing which can equal this material in richness and elegance. It is used for gowns and suits for afternoon and evening wear or the long separate loose wrap.

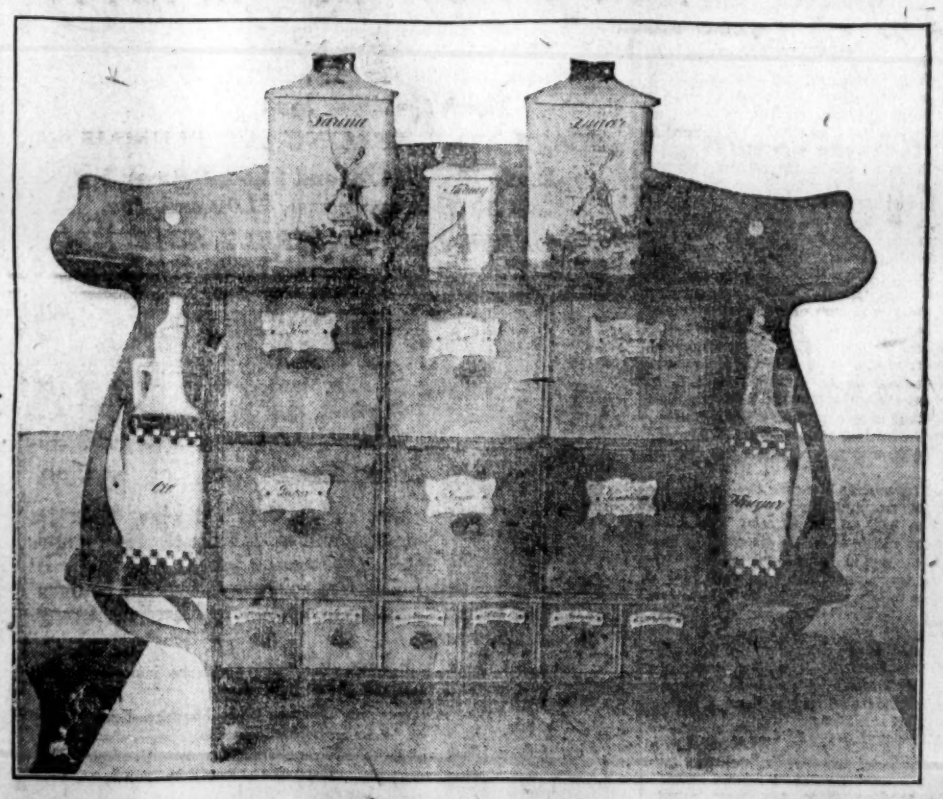
At first glance one does not care for the sailor collars and wide revers shown on the latest models. The sailor collar we usually associate with outing garments and as appropriate only for youthful wearers. But from all appearances mothers and grandmothers are destined to wear it during the winter on coats, evening wraps and street suits.

DUTCH KITCHEN FOR THE WINTER BRIDE



A PORTABLE KITCHEN CABINET.

NEAT as a pin and as attractive as the daintiest housewife could wish is this convenient portable cabinet of cream colored maple wood, with jugs and labels in blue and white china. Dutch landscape scenes on the larger receptacles give a very decorative air.

MANY CRIMINALS.

By EDITH V. ROSS.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

One day Jaharia, a little maiden of Siam, while walking in a public garden passed a dark eyed youth. Their eyes met, and the flame of love was kindled in the maiden's breast. She was then only fifteen, but the image of the young man remained photographed indelibly upon her brain.

The time soon came when she should be married. But, though she was pretty and attractive, no suitor appeared for her hand. The truth is that she gave none of the young men any encouragement. One day her father, who was a mathematician, so absorbed in his figures that he took little note of anything else, said to her:

"Jaharia, how old are you?"

"Nineteen."

"What! Nineteen and not married! What does it mean?"

"There are no suitors," said the girl.

"No suitors! Surely you are comely."

"I am your daughter, and you see me through a father's eyes."

"I wonder if that is so. Perhaps it is. At any rate, you must have a husband. I will attend to the matter tomorrow."

Now, this is what the old man meant by "attending to the matter." In Siam every woman who has reached a certain age without securing a husband may, if she choose, be registered as one of the younger daughters of the king. This places her under the king's protection and compels him to find a husband for her. These husbands, however, are all lawbreakers. They are not sent to prison or fined or executed, but are condemned to marry one of the king's adopted younger daughters. The condemned men are allowed to make their own selection, but with certain limitations. Those whose offenses are light are permitted to choose from among the better grade of women, the most attractive in physical appearance and amiability, while the grave offenders must marry the ugliest and worst tempered.

So it was that the poor girl cherishing in her memory the youth she had seen in the park, with plenty of young fellows anxious to marry her, was to be given to a malefactor. It was her misfortune to have a father who, if far penetrating in the problem of mathematics, on ordinary matters was inordinately stupid.

The registry had scarcely been made when a young man who had borne an excellent character—a student in the university—was caught pilfering. Everybody was astonished. He was tried, but the judge, considering that it was his first offense, gave him a fatherly admonition and let him off. To the surprise of every one, two hours after his discharge he was again arrested for a similar offense. This time the judge condemned him to marry one of the king's daughters.

Within a few days there was another case of a young man of good reputation becoming a lawbreaker. This case was the more remarkable because he was of noble family. On account of his rank he would not have been prosecuted had he not repeated his offense a number of times. He, too, at last was convicted of crime. One morning when the judge went to court he saw in the prisoners' dock no less than six young men of the best families—some of them noble—who were to be tried for petty offenses. "There is an epidemic of crime among our youth," said the judge to himself. "I must stamp it out." Thereupon he convicted every one of the lawbreakers of an offense of the highest grade and sentenced each to marry one of the ugliest and most irascible of the king's daughters.

Nevertheless the epidemic spread. Young men of every grade were caught openly committing offenses, and all were convicted without mercy. Finally one morning when the judge took his seat on the bench he was astonished to see in the prisoners' dock the son of the prime minister. The young man, whose name was Karkalo, pleaded guilty to stealing the purse of the minister of finance.

The judge, not daring to sentence so high a personage, was about to discharge the young man, but the latter said that he would prefer to suffer as a lawbreaker and should be obliged if the judge would give him an opportunity to expiate his offense, whereupon he was sentenced as one of the better grade of malefactors.

On the day when the criminals were brought forth to select their wives all these better class young men were among the number. Among the women to be chosen was Jaharia. Twelve of the young men of birth were obliged to select wives from among the homely and vicious. They were all in despair. Little Jaharia stood mute, with downcast eyes, equally despondent. Presently an attendant told her that she had been chosen and led her to the man who had chosen her. When she stood face to face with him she looked up.

It seemed to her that the people, the walls, the furniture, were swimming about her, all tinged with the colors of the rainbow, while an ecstatic happiness welled up in her heart. She saw the young man she had several years before met in the public garden.

"I have demeaned myself," he said, "to gain you for my wife. I never financed to see you after the first time till I learned that a certain lovely girl had become a king's daughter and found that she was the one I had so long dreamed of."

He was the king's son and secured a pardon for the others.

In reading store ads most people are looking for definite information bout some particular article—hence merchants should quote prices always.

Cure For Disconsolate Lovers.

Somebody has dug out of an old book of the time of Queen Elizabeth the following advice to a slighted and despondent lover:

Tye one end of a rope righte over a beame
And make a slippe noose at the other extreame.
Just under the beame lett a bucket be sett;
On it lett the lovier most manfullie gett.
Right over his heade be left the snicket be gott
And under his eare well fastened the knott.
The buckett kicked cleare, lett him take a full swinge
And leave alle the reste of the worke to the stringe!

She Is So Sensitive.

"I wish some persons weren't so all fired sensitive and ready to see an insult when none is intended," remarked the man with the troubled look, looking for sympathy. "Now, last night I got myself into an awkward fix just trying to be agreeable and to please everybody. I went to see a young lady I think a great deal of—yes, I do think a great deal of her, but I wish she would be more sensible. Girl friend of hers was there, and it was her first visit since she'd sent a crazy looking, good for nothing decorated cup and saucer with scalloped edges as a birthday gift.

"'When I was out shopping,' the girl friend explained, 'and saw that cup and saucer I just thought of you, Marguerite.'

"'How? Hand painted, isn't it?'

"Now, the recipient's complexion is natural, as any one can see, and there was no reason for her to be so chilly toward me the rest of the evening. Hang such sensitiveness!"—New York Telegram.

Transmigration of Souls.

First Johnnie—What caused him to renounce theosophy? The last time I saw him he was claiming to be the reincarnation of his grandfather. Second Johnnie—Yes. He firmly believed that he was the reincarnation of his grandfather, but people began dunning him for money they had lent the old gentleman fifty years ago, and he dropped the theory like a hot potato.—Puck.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

THE WINTER AT PINEHURST

Golf, Trap Shooting and Other Sports at Popular North Carolina Resort—Pistol Shooting Championship.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 12.—Significant of what Winter golf now means is the announcement of the opening of an additional nine-hole course, laid out as a connecting loop to the No. 3, or nine-hole course, of the Pinehurst, (N. C.) Country Club, and the clearing of the land for an additional nine-hole course in anticipation of further extension, the most important work of a busy Summer.

The present equipment is now three full length 18-hole courses, or two 18-hole and two nine-hole courses with a fourth course under way, as the No. 3 is wisely made to be played as an 18-hole course, or two nines. This combination is unequalled in America, and unsurpassed in the world, providing, as it does, for all classes of players. Important changes have been made in the club house in the construction of an observatory above the new fire-proof locker-room building, which has been made in the golf course which will bring the first and last greens close up to the building.

Numerous innovations add to interest in the coming tournament season, notable as usual for its length, variety and wealth of trophies offered. Among these is the inauguration of an annual amateur tennis championship on broad and comprehensive lines, and the increase of "added money" in the annual mid-Winter handicap trap shooting tournament to over $1,000, when the trophies offered in connection are considered. Fox hunting is to be given new and special interest through the presence of James T. Twitty, of Buffalo, and his fine pack of English and American hounds and other sports and recreations will be made much of. Combined, significant indication of the now wellestablished prominence of this resort as the Winter out-door life center of America. The full schedule of stated tournament fixtures follows:

Golf Leads in Popularity.

Golf, as usual, leads in popularity, the first event on the schedule being the seventh annual autumn tournament, November 24, 25 and 26th, followed by the seventh annual holiday week tournament, December 29 30 and 31st. The eighth annual mid-Winter tournament January 9, 10 and 11th, is immediately followed by the annual Advertising Men's contest, January 12, 13 and 14th; the biggest golf week of the entire year. Other contests of national importance in which from six to eight divisions are provided for with gold medals for best qualification scores, and cups for the division winners, runners-up and consolation winners, include the seventh annual St. Valentine's tournament, February 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11th; the seventh annual Spring tournament March 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11th; the 11th annual United North and South Amateur Championship, March 20th to April 1st, inclusive. Other events on the programme include the fifth annual St. Valentine's tournament February 15, 16, 17 and 18th, the seventh annual Club Championship, March 15, 16, 17 and 18th, and the third annual mid-April tournament, April 13, 14 and 15th; this extended programme giving less than half of the events planned, for it does not include the tournaments of the special organizations such as the Tin Whistles' events for men, Silver Foils' events for women, the various tournaments for smaller "clubs" from many sections of the country, and "specials" such as mixed foursomes and novelties, arranged from time to time.

Trap Shooting Gaining.

The popularity of the annual mid-Winter handicap trap shooting tournament has been responsible for a marked increase in the added money, bringing the total for the various events up to $750, which does not include the handsome cups offered for the winner of the handicap. Preliminary, gold medals for the highest amateur and professional averages, and silver medals for the amateur averages, over $1,000 in all. This year's event, the fourth annual, will fill in the week beginning January 16th, the important days, the 18th, 19th, 20th, and 21st. Weekly tournaments, all 100 target handicap events for sterling cups, are announced for Mondays from January 30th to March 27th. A gold medal will be awarded for the four best scores made during the season in these events; scratch shooting, open to amateurs only, winners to have shot at last 800 targets.

Lawn Tennis Prominent.

The increasing prominence of lawn tennis is evinced by the inauguration of an annual mid-Winter tournament including men's and women's singles and doubles, with the possibility of mixed doubles as a special, the event filling in the entire week, beginning January 23rd. Men's singles are scheduled for February 1, 2 and 3rd, women's singles for February 22, 23, and 24th, and the annual club championship for the full week beginning February 27th.

Pistol Shooting Championships.

The important events in the programme of pistol shooting tournaments are the annual club and United States Revolver Association championships, which fill the week of March 20th-25th.

Other Events Planned.

Other events will include the usual equestrian gymkhanas, fox hunting, baseball, roque, rifle shooting, archery, etc.

Country Club Officers Elected.

At the Country Club's annual meeting the following Board of Governors was elected: President Leonard Tufts, Boston; Secretary-Treasurer, Herbert L. Jillson, Pinehurst; Allan E. Lard, Washington; Henry C. Fownes and W. L. Hurd, Pittsburg; Joseph D. Clima, Cleveland; E. H. Silliman, Detroit; James D. Foot, New York; Harry Dutton and C. L. Becker, Boston; H. W. RED CROSS SEALS.

Millions to be Sent Out in December At Postoffices.

New York, Nov. 12.—Judging from reports at hand today, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis estimates that by December 1st, not less than 75,000,000 Red Cross Seals will have been distributed to selling agents in forty different States of the country.

Forty million seals have already been printed and another large edition is being prepared. Agents' orders to date aggregate all of that amount and a considerable number have not yet stated how many seals they can use. Taking into consideration this latter class and the agents who will be appointed before December 1st, the prospects for selling 100,000,000 stamps, which is the goal that has been set by the national workers, are extremely bright.

Over 30 State societies have organized the sale on an extensive basis, and in about ten more States, Red Cross Seals will be sold in some places. All told, including State, city, county, and sub-agents, an army of fully 50,000 men, women and children will be engaged in selling the bright Christmas Seals for the prevention of tuberculosis. Permission to sell seals in the corridors of all postoffices has been granted by Secretary Hitchcock. They will also be on sale in department stores, hotels, railway stations, drugstores, and in thousands of other places.

Every conceivable device for advertising the seals is being prepared. In some places valuable prizes will be given. Millions of slips, dodgers, posters, and other kinds of literature will be distributed calling upon the public to buy Red Cross Seals.

Among the agencies that are co-operating with the Red Cross and the tuberculosis societies are women's clubs, lodges, labor unions, business men's associations, stores, banks, newspapers and thousands of school boys and girls.

Every seal is a bullet in the fight against tuberculosis in the community where it is sold, and a million dollars from the sale or the stamping out of this plague is the object of the Christmas campaign.

AN AGED PEDESTRIAN.

Walks Across Continent, Arrives at Houston—Search Being Made.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 12.—Ending his tramp of 10,000 miles in this city, Frank Schrum, 98 years old, asked authorities to send him to the home for the aged at Austin where he expects to spend the rest of his life unless this story of his wanderings should reach one of the two daughters for whom he has searched so many years and she come to his aid. Schrum is a veteran of the Mexican and Civil wars and was a resident with his wife and daughters in Galveston when the storm of 1900 wrecked his home, scattered the little family and left him penniless. Learning of his wife's death and believing his daughters had shared her fate, he went to New Orleans and was there seized with fever. While in the hospital he received a letter stating that one of his daughters had been married and was located in California. As soon as he could leave the hospital he started on the walk just terminated here. He tramped through the desert to California, reached the city where his daughter was thought to be living but was unable to find her. Thinking he could locate her through the aid of the census bureau he took up the long journey to the East and walked from San Francisco to Washington, only to be disappointed. From the National capital he started for Texas, always searching for his daughter but when he reached Houston without having met success, the old veteran's spirit weakened and with the laconic remark, "I am getting tired" he entered the United Charities room and asked to be sent to Austin. He was provided with a ticket and boarded a Southern Pacific train for his first ride in years, though he had covered in his travels more than 10,000 miles.

THE CAUSE OF MALARIA.

No Mosquitoes, No Infection is Demonstrated by Statistics.

(Bulletin State Board of Health.)

Ten days ago we published an article giving experimental proof, to show that malaria is a mosquito-borne disease. In this article we desire to submit a few specific samples of the effect of mosquito destruction on the prevalence of malaria, which confirm the conclusions deducible from experiments given in our former article, namely, that malaria is carried by mosquitoes, and to get rid of mosquitoes is to eradicate this disease.

Ismailiya, with a population of 8,000, is situated close to the Suez Canal in a tropical, malarious country. Malaria became so prevalent there that the existence of the town was almost threatened. An anti-mosquito campaign was begun in 1901. The result is shown by the following:

In 1900, 2,250 cases; 1901, 1,990 cases; 1902, 1,548 cases; 1903, 214 cases; 1904 90 cases; 1905, 37 cases; 1906 four cases.

Nearly all the cases in 1904, '05, '06 were either cases that had been treated and were considered cured that relapsed, or cases developing in the surrounding country and brought in—that is, imported cases.

Klang and Port Swettingham of the Federated Malay States were malarial hotbeds when an anti-mosquito war was declared in 1901. The following shows the results:

In 1901 510 cases; 1902, 199 cases; 1903, 69 cases; 1904, 32 cases; 1905, 23 cases.

The cases in 1904 and 1905 were relapses, and imported.

On the plain of Marathon, in Greece, malaria caused 90 per cent. of all the sickness in 1900. That year the Grecian League Against Malaria entered the field, with the result that in 1907 only 47 per cent. of all sickness was malaria, and in 1908 only 2 per cent. of all sickness was malaria.

Havana, Cuba, was losing 350 lives a year from malaria when mosquitoes were attacked in a vigorous campaign, with an 88 per cent. reduction in four years, of their malarial death rate. Most of the remaining cases were relapses, and imported.

The United States government, through the efficient management of Colonel Gorgas, in the Canal Zone, has reduced malaria since 1906 over 70 per cent. In the city of Colon the disease has almost entirely disappeared.

Malaria has taken heavy toll of Italy. In 1887, 21,000 Italians died from this disease; in 1900 the Italian Society for the Study of Malaria, began an anti-malarial educational campaign, and distributed free quinine. In eight years the number of deaths in Italy from malaria has been reduced to 4,000, a saving of 12,000 lives.

We have not exhausted, by any means, the examples of the effect of mosquito extermination on the prevalence of malaria, but in view of the fact that not a single example of mosquito extermination without malaria reduction can be cited, we consider it unnecessary to occupy the reader's time further with superabundance of evidence.

THE FARMERS' UNION.

Texas Locas Moving for an Independent Organization.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 12.—There is war in the ranks of the Farmers' Union despite the assertions of the National officers that the trouble of a few months ago in this State which grew so serious as to cause the cessation of a number of locals, had been smoothed over. The dissatisfied ones who object to the assessments levied and the salaries paid the National president, have submitted to the secretary of State the form of a charter which they propose putting forth as the base of the new union to be known as the Farmers' Educational & Co-Operative Union of Texas. This organization proposes to be entirely independent of the National body. The union in this county with headquarters in Houston, has stood loyally by the National union and there is now so serious a break in the farmers' organization that it has lost the great political power it wielded in Texas a few years ago. This serious split in Texas is attracting the attention of the farmers of all sections of the country for the reason that the Farmers' Union was born in this State and Newton Gresham, the founder, is buried here.

AMUSEMENTS

Academy. Bijou. Joyland. Palace.

The Academy of Music this week will offer two original New York productions, and no doubt, responding both to a desire to see the best that is in the country and also to demonstrate appreciation of the efforts of Mr. S. A. Schloss, head of the Schloss theatres, "standing room only" audiences will greet the attractions. From all indications this will certainly result tomorrow night, when the noted actress, Miss Mary Mannering, known as one of the most beautiful women on the American stage and a wearer of most gorgeous gowns, will appear in "A Man's World." This event is of even more importance than would attach itself to any New York production, because Miss Mannering and company will come to Wilmington direct from the New York run. This will be the first city played in the South (only a few are to be played in the South, however), and will be the only one played in North Carolina. Miss Mannering and company, and a special car filled with scenery, will leave New Yory City this afternoon, reaching Wilmington in the morning. So it can be seen that the greatest possible interest attaches itself to the appearance of Miss Mannering in Wilmington. Seats went on sale at Plummer's yesterday.

MARY MANNERING.

Thursday night the Academy will present the big New York hit, "Girls," seats going on sale Wednesday morning.

Miss Mannering's newest dramatic offering, "A Man's World," by Rachel Crothers, the author of "The Three Of Us," is a strong play of human interest, which was a great metropolitan success, upholding a forceful moral lesson brought with tender appeal. In this play Miss Mannering has never had a better opportunity to show to greater advantage her qualities of charm and dramatic emotion. She has been given a role that gives this eminent actress a number of effective situations, convincing, interesting, and true, which bring realism to the summit of realization.

This drama of vital interest is strongly stimulating, containing an abundance of comedy and a moral production at Daly's Theatre, New York it was so well received that it stayed at the famous playhouse all through the Sumer months, making a run of 225 consecutive nights.

"Girls," has been most generally described as a delightful comedy. Certainly its clever author could not have selected a more fortuitous or inspiring title for his play. The word is no sooner mentioned than a mental picture filled with youth, beauty, vivacity and cleverness stirs the imagination—just simple, natural, unassuming girlishness that sparkles with the radiance of it own glow of freshness and chorus, is what is said to be found in Mr. Fitch's work.

"Girls," tells the story of three young women who go to New York to earn their living and with the avowed intention of having nothing to do with the opposite sex. The trio live in a little studio where they set up their Lares and Penates, over the threshold of which they have never permitted a man to set foot. One of the most amusing scenes is the preparation the three makes to retire for the night in sleeping accommodations consisting of a folding bed, a sofa couch and Morris chair. Just as they are about to turn out the light, in rushes a man—not a burglar, however, but a good-looking, good natured young gentleman in evening clothes. He quiets the screams of the girls and assures them he was compelled to flee to their apartment for protection and that in order to be on the safe side he intends to remain all night. As he refuses to get out by the door, the girls compel him to cross the air-shaft to the next building by means of a thin wooden shelf. This is but one of the many humorous incidents the clever playwright has introduced into the three acts of the comedy. For characters there are three man-haters, only one of whom, however, is sincere in her intentions; the girl elocutionist across the hall, who sees good qualities in every male that appears on the scene, the drunken janitor; the bachelor office clerk and others. That the three girls finally succumb to the charm of the sterner sex goes without saying, but their efforts to resist and the gradual desertion of the man-hating standards for a quick succession of amusing comedy scenes and clever dialogue.

The Crystal.

Another fine bill goes on at the Crystal Palace tomorrow afternoon and the management feels that it will be one of the best yet offered the many patrons of the resort. The programme will include singing and dancing by a splendid team. The bill the past week was good and drew large crowds. In addition to the vaudeville two reels of motion pictures are shown at each performance.

At Joyland.

Joyland was crowded to the doors yesterday by the young ladies of Wilmington as the manager had the house open from 10 to 12 oclock, so as to give all the young ladies the big feature film, "Delighted Dolly" and everyone who saw it was well pleased. There is great improvement at the theatre since the change of management and these improvments are being appreciated by the public.

At the Bijou, Tomorrow.

"The Sorrows of the Unfaithful," telling a story of Fickleness that induces woe and disaster, an excellent Biograph subject, and "Liz's Career" are the features of the bill that will be shown at the Bijou theatre tomorrow. Both are fine pictures and will be seen with interest.

Lesson told with great effect.

Seats are on sale at Plummer's.

Clyde Fitch's Comedy, "Girls."

"Girls," written by Clyde Fitch and described by conservative dramatic reviewers as the best comedy of his career will be presented in this city Thursday night at the Academy.

worth and his many excellences of character, rejoice that the State's delegation in Congress is to have the benefit of his ripe statesmanship and mature judgment. And the Greensboro district honored itself in placing this commission in his worthy hands.

Undoubtedly the time has come for a re-allignment of political parties. We are having too much government by commission. We must have a tariff for revenue only, a tax on incomes and an inheritance tax. The poor have borne the burdens of this government already too long and it is time for those who have fattened on special privilege under the protection of the government to bear their proportion of its support and maintenance.

A Tale of Tell.

Many curious things have done stage duty for Yorick's skull, but it remained for a French theater to depose the mythical apple of the mythical William Tell's mythical bow and arrow feat in favor of an egg. M. Falconnier and Mlle. Mirval were the Tells, pere et fils respectively. No apples being among the "properties," an egg was substituted and poised upon Mlle. Mirval's head of raven hair. M. Falconnier, the crack bowman, took aim and missed. Luckily the bolt went half an inch above and not below the egg. William Tell took aim again, amid heightened suspense, and this time smashed the egg, the contents of which found place in the actress' hair.

GOT THE EGGS FRESH

They Were Turtle Eggs and Agassiz Wanted Them.

A WILD RACE AGAINST TIME.

The Professor Had to Have the Eggs Before They Were Three Hours Old, and This Is the Story of How the Hunter Made Good His Promise.

When Professor Louis Agassiz was writing a book on the turtles of the United States it became necessary for him to have some fresh turtle eggs. He engaged Mr. Jenks of Middleboro, about forty miles from Cambridge, to get them for him. Mr. Jenks promised that the eggs should be in Agassiz's hands before they were three hours old. Mr. Jenks, who told the tale to a writer in the Atlantic Monthly, had to wait by a certain pond for the turtles to come out and lay their eggs in the sand. Finally, after weeks of waiting, one morning about 4 o'clock a turtle crawled up the beach, partly buried herself in the soft sand and laid her eggs. Mr. Jenks went on to say:

As she did so the distant clock struck 4. There was no train till after 9, and the eggs must be in Cambridge in three hours.

I laid the eggs on a bed of sand in the bottom of my pail, filled in between them with more sand, so with another layer to the rim, and, covering all over smoothly with more sand, I ran back for my horse. He knew as well as I that the turtle had laid and that he was to get those eggs to Agassiz.

I let him out. I shouted to him, holding to the dasher with one hand, the pail of eggs with the other, not daring to get off my knees, although the bang on them as we pounded down the wood road was terrific. We had nearly covered the distance to the pike when ahead of me I heard the sharp whistle of a locomotive.

With a pull that lifted the horse from his feet I swung him into a field and sent him straight as an arrow for the track.

By some stroke of luck I got on the track and backed off before the train hit my carriage. But the maneuver was successful, for the engineer stopped, and I swung aboard the cab—hatless, dew soaked, smeared with yellow mud and holding as if it were a baby or a bomb a little tin pail of sand.

"Throw her wide open," I commanded—"wide open! There are fresh turtle eggs for Professor Agassiz of Cambridge. He must have them before breakfast."

The engineer and the fireman no doubt thought that I was crazy, but they let me alone, and the fast freight rolled in swiftly to Boston.

But misfortune was ahead. We slowed down in the yards and came to a stop. We were put on a siding to wait no one knew how long.

I suddenly jumped from the engine, slid over a high fence and bolted for the street. In the empty square stood a cab.

The cabman saw me coming. I waved a dollar at him and then another, dodged into the cab, slammed the door and called out: "Cambridge! Harvard college! Professor Agassiz's house! I've got eggs for Agassiz!" and I pushed another dollar up at him through the hole.

"Let him go!" I ordered. "Here's another dollar for you if you make Agassiz's house in twenty minutes!"

We flew to Cambridge. There was a sudden lurch, and I dived forward, rammed my head into the front of the cab and came up with a rebound that landed me across the small of my back on the seat and sent half of my pail of eggs helter skelter over the floor. But we were at Agassiz's house. I tumbled out and pounded the door.

"Agassiz!" I gasped when the maid came. "I want Professor Agassiz, quick!"

She protested that he was in bed and threatened the police. But just then a door overhead was flung open, a great, white robed figure appeared on the dim landing above, and a quick, loud voice called excitedly:

"Let him in! Let him in! I know him! He has my turtle eggs."

And the apparition, slipperless and clad in anything but an academic gown, came sailing downstairs. The great man, his arms extended, laid hold of me with both hands and, dragging me and my precious pail into his study, with a swift, clean stroke laid open one of the eggs as the watch in my trembling hands ticked its way to 7 as if nothing unusual were happening in the history of the world.

Tempts Fate Living On Top of Volcano

Frank A. Perret, an American, Engaged in Vesuvian Exploration, Has Strangest Home in the World—Built Over a Fissure in Mountain Side, He Can Hear Unceasing Struggle of the Terrestrial Elements Down in the Bowels of the Earth While Lying in Bed—Thrives on Nerve Racking, Sleep Dispelling Experiences.

Vesuvius in an Angry Mood.

FOLLOWING the trail of the tiger and the rhino through the trackless jungle may have its compensating advantages; aeronautics its birdlike joys, but for the thrill that really exhilarates and is worth while, you must live on the crest of a volcano.

The sensation is immense. It may not enchant you to fancy yourself being shot out of a fiery catapult several thousand feet in the air and deposited piecemeal on some deserted hillside four or five miles away or waking up some bright morning on the other side of the Styx, with the consoling information that while you slumbered the merciful lava had snuffed out your life without disturbing your sleep. But it's the sort of experience that is apt to keep you on edge every minute and turn your thoughts wistfully back to those tranquil days days of babyhood, before the spirit of adventure lured you into danger's zone. To those who have eaten of the tree of knowledge and played every string on life's harp, save this one, it's a bully experience. But unless you have nerves of steel, and an angler's patience, you had better not try it. No occupation in the world is so contingent upon the unexpected happening. When it does happen the world usually stands aghast at the enormity of the catastrophe visited upon some helpless community.

But with all its shortcomings there is something impelling, something stirring in the excitement of making your home on a real, live crater, which is hard to resist.

From whatever angle you gaze on the encircling horizon, the vista is one of death and desolation. It is a spectacle that inspires, yet chills and depresses, and unless you have the real sporting strain in you, it may make you wish you were back on dear old Broadway, with its plethora of caviar and lobster and the ambrosial Wurzburger that cheers.

Of all places in the world, this is the last one to appeal to the fancy of a mollycoddle. It is the place for the adamant man, the human stoic, who is not over particular whether Gabriel calls him unto his own from amidst the gayeties of civilization or the flame-seared ribs of old Stromboli.

Truly might it be called the sport of kings, if it did not have a serious side to it. And there's the hunch. Out of curiosity kings and princes, sickened by the obsequience of their courts, occasionally seek solace and stimulus in its noisy environment, as the nerve racked inebriate looks to the sanatorium to brace him up.

The treatment being heroic, little of the tonic suffices and such excursions are invariably of short duration. They are embarked upon generally when there is relatively little or no danger imminent, enabling the royal pilgrim to gather such experience as the momentary inactivity of the slumbering monster affords without unnecessary risk.

Whatever feeling of instability it may conjure in the mind of others, the prospect of a sepulture of red hot ashes has no terrors for Frank Alvord Perret, an American of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has spent the last five years on Mount Vesuvius, studying its phenomena. American tourists who went out to see the volcano this summer found him busy exploring the opening of the great crater which destroyed Pompeii and which has put the blight of death upon all living things hereabouts.

In this inferno, which has been home, playground, laboratory and everything to him through the alternating periods of quiet and eruption, which apply the acid test to one's courage and shake the stoutest heart, his lot with all its trials and anxieties has been serenely happy.

What would be to the great majority of men the equivalent to service in a mad house is to him a fascinating study. In their suggestion of mighty power the seamed and scarred ridges of the volcano presenting one of the most forbidding looking perspectives in all the world, is to the quiet little Brooklyn man the most sublimely beautiful, mentally uplifting and majestic picture nature affords in its profusion and variety of landscape, the earth over.

Like a baby cooed to sleep by its mother's lullaby, this rarely constituted Yankee sinks into repose nightly blissfully indifferent to the rocking and the writhing of the earth, the belching forth of molten lava and the terrific detonations through which nature expresses its internal agony. No thought of peril perturbs him.

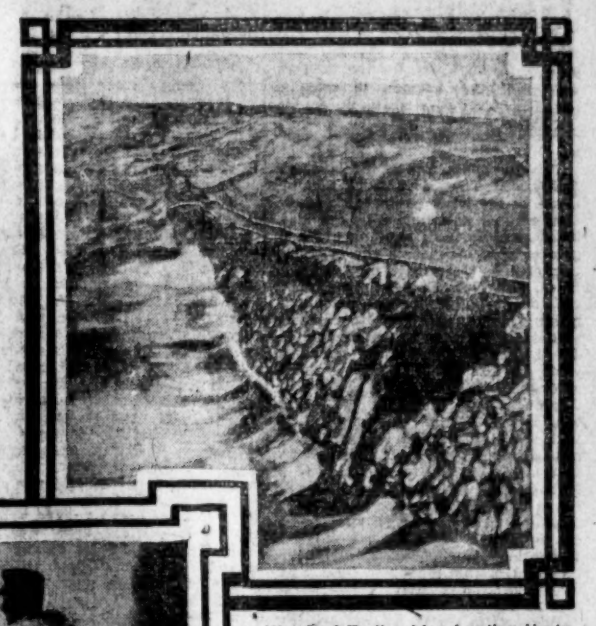
No peasant in the pastoral valleys beyond lives in more placid peace of mind and none enjoys more freedom from any personal fear of danger than he.

For a number of years Perret has been engaged in making a scientific examination of the volcano in collaboration with the officials of the royal observatory. With the hope that his researches and observations may be of value to the world, his long residence there has been made possible through the generous patronage of wealthy Americans, among them George Gould.

Attended by a faithful old man servant, Perret makes his home in the mountains, under the shadow of the volcano. He calls it his nest—to be polite people call it a villa.

Frank Perret, American Scientist, Listening to Disturbance Through Volcanic Fissure on Vesuvius by Means of Dictograph.

Vesuvius on the Eve of an Eruption.



Wreck of Trolley Line Leading Up to Vesuvius After an Eruption.

Stirring Up Trouble.

It is a simple but attractive little abode, suggesting in its spare furnishings a keen realization of its owner's sense of insecurity. A few chairs, a table and a bed, with some pictures on the walls and a few pieces of bric-a-brac to give cheer to an otherwise weird environment, constitute its only appointments.

At first the awful solitude of the hermitage palled on him, but he has now gotten used to his isolation from the world's noise and bustle and does not mind it.

Indeed, so absorbing has his self-imposed task become to him that only a disturbance on Mount Etna, or the blowing up of old Stromboli can lure him away from it. In this mountain retreat nothing escapes his observation.

The house of the scientist commands a magnificent view of the country for miles around in every direction. Standing on Perret's front porch Pompeii, oppressively impressive in its sepulchral silence, looms out of the haze in the distance. That he may not altogether [illegible] himself forsaken, even though he is alone, picturesque old Naples, aglow with the life and color so peculiarly radiant throughout Italy, beams beneficently on at his loneliness, from across the bay.

To the scientists this setting of strange contrasts [illegible] stimulating. In his study of the volcano it is a never unending inspiration to Perret.

In his five years of residence there his contributions to Vesuvian lore have greatly enriched that intensely interesting field of investigation. To his zeal and enterprise the officials of the royal observatory are indebted for many important discoveries, which have shed new light upon the phenomena of Vesuvius. Although associated with them in their researches, much of his work is done, independent of these officials. This leaves him to his own initiative and has enabled him to take observations along lines different from those usually followed. His experiments both afield and at home have developed a number of new features in connection with the crater that have proved of great help to the professors of the observatory in their consideration of certain phases of the volcano, which from time immemorial have been enveloped in more or less doubt. All of his field experiments are made with the aid of a portable seismograph, a seismometer and a dictograph. With the seismograph he is able to register not only any unusual disturbance of Vesuvius, but any inordinately violent shock originating anywhere on the entire continent of Europe. The seismometer measures the intensity and direction of the disturbance. By means of the dictograph, which magnifies sound waves, he is able to detect the most minute murmur below the surface of the earth. In making his observations, Perret drops a diaphragm of this instrument, connected with two wires, into a fissure at the side of the mountain. Over the fissure he places a cone covering, much like a phonograph horn, through which the hot vapors escape as steam from a peanut roaster. Through this the wires are extended to the top, being connected on the outside with a receiver. By placing this to his ear the explorer is able to hear the faintest rumble in the bowels of the earth, and determine the condition of the troublous area below. These observations are taken at different hours of the day and at various points in and about the volcano. An accurate record of them is kept, the data thus collected being exceedingly valuable from a scientific standpoint, showing as they do every premonitory symptom of a gathering storm.

Frequently the experiments begin before sunrise and are extended late into the night, whenever in the judgment of the Yankee explorer there is warrant for supposing that they will yield important results.

They are never so [illegible] in developments as when the [illegible] to [illegible] cosmic crust. It is no idle boast of the American when he claims to have accomplished by this agency a feat achieved by no other scientist or at least never so effectually by any other. Thus where others end their labors with their departure from their laboratory, Perret is enabled to continue his studies ad libitum, through the night, whenever the promise is held out to him of enlarging on his already extensive fund of knowledge respecting the volcano.

Like a vigilant sentinel nothing here escapes his notice. With ears keenly attuned to the abnormal, that which means nothing to the uninitiated bears to him a message pregnant with significance. It may be an almost imperceptible tremor which to those not adept in the volcanic nomenclature, signifies little, but to the scientist presages the approach of one of those storms that shake the world to its vitals and command the sympathetic attention of all civilization.

To the layman, unversed in this lore, all interior disturbances of the earth are pretty much alike. But to the scientist whom experience has enabled to classify each variety of detonation, they have a separate and distinct meaning. Of these he must keep record, day and night. Through every working minute, by means of the little instrument alongside his bed, he contrives to keep abreast of each one of these kaleidoscopic changes that are being wrought in the stirring drama played out of sight and often out of hearing of the curious.

A slave to detail, these records of the American scientist are said to be the most complete made of any Vesuvian scholar in recent years.

A cold, calculating temperament, deadened to all emotion, fortified with a large measure of personal courage, is necessary to the enjoyment of life in a place like this, the permanence of which is so insecure. It takes more than an ordinary sense of repose to be able to grin and laugh at the idea of being jolted out of bed at two or three o'clock in the morning by an unlooked for eruption of old Vesuvius, and it can be accepted as a certain sign that one's nerves are all right when one is able to spend month after month in the realization of this ever-present danger, without falling a prey to the torture of insomnia and nervous prostration.

If the lure of such a vocation is difficult to understand, it is much more difficult to appreciate the spirit of enthusiasm which produces in the scientist a feeling of felicity when he takes up his dictograph and discovers that old Ned is about to break loose below. To Perret it's all in a day's work; he thrives on it, and he likes it.

An interesting story is told of Perret's experience on Mount Vesuvius during the last eruption. At the time he was a comparative novice in Vesuvian exploration.

With the professors of the observatory, which is located on the mountain near the mouth of the volcano, [illegible] confined in the little brick building occupied by them [illegible] entire period of the disturbance. Thousands [illegible] of lava fell all around them and threatened [illegible] to overwhelm the structure.

[illegible] a intensely dramatic experience, with which [illegible] on earth is comparable. There was a new [illegible] minute. From out of the earth's entrails [illegible] unceasing stream of fiery ashes, mud and [illegible] seemed to inflame everything about them. [illegible] sound rocked and wrenched itself into a fearful [illegible], as if the earth was being torn asunder. Huge [illegible] appeared in the surface of the mountain, from [illegible] issued clouds of steaming vapor that added to the [illegible] of the scene.

Vivid flashes of fire lighted the heavens to the accompaniment of the deafening crash of thunder. To the fool, collected Yankee the end of the world can produce nothing more calculated to instill one with the horror of dissolution.

Perret is said to have predicted six months ahead of time the earthquake which destroyed Messina. He was a warm friend of Arthur H. Cheney, the American consul at Messina, who with his wife lost his life in the collapse of the consulate there on the morning of the fatal disaster. Talking with the Cheneys in the early summer of 1908, on observations he had taken in the neighborhood, which foreshadowed the quake, Perret advised them to seek other quarters. But they were disinclined to leave the pretty little Calabrian sea port and so met the fate that befell so many thousand others.

When the cataclysm occurred Perret was one of the first to reach the stricken city, going there as a special envoy of the state department, and assisted in the search for the remains of the consul and his wife. This was one of the saddest incidents of his long and eventful experience in the volcanic zone of Italy.

Mr. Perret interestingly describes the avalanches in the volcanic cone due to the tremors within the interior of the earth, which intermittently add to the terror of life in and around the crater and often mistaken for eruptions because of the heavy detonations and density of the vapors that usually accompany them.

"The last eruption," he says, "left great masses of material in unstable equilibrium around the inside of the crater's edge, and from time to time these were precipitated into the abyss, compressing the air by their fall, and were then ejected as immense dust-clouds which so perfectly resembled true explosions that reports of a new eruption were frequently seen in the newspapers."

"The downfall of these large masses raised the floor of the crater to a point some three hundred meters below the rim, and subsequent avalanches have formed a series of cones around the circumference of this floor which are constantly growing and thus reducing the size of the flat, central area."

"I use the word 'avalanche' instead of 'dry slip' or 'land-slide' as it conveys a more adequate idea of the grandeur of the phenomenon. Slips and slides are continually occurring, but the descent of a true avalanche in the present crater of Vesuvius forms one of the most impressive sights which can be imagined. Detachment sometimes takes place silently, but more often with a sharp crack. The acceleration is almost equal to that of a freely falling body, as the crater walls are nearly perpendicular. Huge boulders, rebounding from the sills of lava, are projected horizontally and then descend in graceful curves, while the bulk of the avalanche, enveloped in whirling clouds, falls from precipice to precipice with the reverberating roar of thunder until it finally precipitates itself upon a talus at the bottom of the crater. Then ensues the development of a magnificent dust-cloud, flaring and torch-like at first, but it soon forms a compact cauliflower cloud of exquisite beauty. The motion, both of translation of development is exceedingly rapid, and the cloud unfolds and advances with sharply defined contours."

DEAL IN KENTUCKY COAL LANDS

Fifteen to Twenty Millions in Big Industrial Enterprise in Kentucky —Other Announcements in The South.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Baltimore, Nov. 10.—About $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 will be the outlay involved in the purchase just closed of 100,000 acres of coking coal land in eastern Kentucky, its development and the construction of over 100 miles of railroad by the Louisville & Nashville and other systems in oredr to reach the coal field, contracts for the railroad work having already been let.

The purchase price of the land was $4,500,000. Though this is the big event of the week in Southern industrial activity as reported by the Manufacturers' Record, another event of greater singnificance is the organization of J. I. Westervelt, of Greenville, S. C., and New England capitalists controlling large textile machinery making plants, or a $900,000 company to build a mill for manufacturing India lawn and linons from combined yarns of 80's to 100's which marks an important development in the production of fine goods in the South. The mill buildings will be of brick with steel beams and the machinery will include 50,000 spindles and 1,200 looms. As indicating the interest of New England textile machinery builders, a number of whom have recently formed a combination by which they can build and equip an entire plant in Southern opportunities, the construction of this mill is of special interest, as it originates with them. Among the other enterprises reported in detail in the Manufacturers' Record for the week are the following:

Standard Knitting Mills, Knoxville, Tenn., announced additional details of the extensive elargement recently undertaken; contracts have been awarded for cotton mill, knitting mill and other buildings costing $70,000 for 13,000 spindles, 50 knitting machines, 450-horsepower boilers and engines, etc., costing over $150,000; construction is progressing on this plant.

Geary Land & Development Co., Lexington, Ky., was incorporated with $130,000 capital stock by Chicago parties, to develop 8,000 acres of coal and timber land.

Golden Ranch Land & Development Co., Lockport, La., was incorporated with $1,000,000 capital stock to reclaim 50,000 acres of wet lands.

Virginia Pocahontas Coal Co., Coalwood, W. Va., is reported as to spend $750,000 for further developments, but has stated that plans are not ready for announcement.

Portsmouth Cotton Oil Refining Corporation, Portsmouth, Va., will build a refinery to replace the $80,000 plant destroyed by fire recently; daily capacity about 1200 barrels of oil.

Lexington Interurban & Street Railway Co., Lexington, Ky., is reported as aving surveys made for the construction of an electric plant to cost $300,000 but states it is not ready to announce details.

Oklahoma Railway Co., is understood to have arainged for its proposed $500,000 loan to be expended on the construction of additional terminal buildings, train sheds and similar structures.

Greenville Mantel & Novelty Co., Greenville, S. C., will be incorporated with $25,000 capital stock to manufacture hardwood mantels, show cases, interior finish, etc.

Dietrich Bros., Baltimore, Md., announce plans for their proposed structural shop; main building of brick and stone with concrete foundation, five stories high, 31 by 114 feet; another building will be of iron, brick and stone, three stories high.

Barlesville Oil Refining Co., Oklahoma City, Okla., recently incorporated with $300,000 capital stock, will build oil refinery, the building to cost about $137,000.

Morill Molds Corporation, Alexandria, Va., was incorporated with $100,000 capital stock to manufacture molds for construction purposes.

F. T. Parker, Philadelphia, has about perfected arrangements for his proposed press cloth mill, to be located in the South; $150,000 will be the capital stock, but no other details have been decided.

George Singleton, Dover, N. J., will build two silk mills at Southmont, N. C.

Phoenix & Georges Creek Mining Co., Philadelphia, will build a coal briquetting plant in Allegheny county, Md., and has ordered the necesssary machinery.

TOWN BOOMING SCHEME.

San Antonia Chamber of Commerce Gives Instruction to Guides.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

San Antonia, Texas, Nov. 12.—The aid of the sight seeing cars and the personally-conducted trips around the city on the observation trolley car has been secured by the Publicity League of San Antonio to make every tourist, visitor and stranger conversant with the history of San Antonio, its present growth and importance and its future.

The officials of the Chamber of Commerce and affiliated organizations have been thinking for some time past of ways and means to interest possible new residents and homeseekers in the city's future, instead of letting them wander through the streets strangers.

A definite plan of procedure has now been outlined, the first of its kind, it is said, in the United States.

One of the first things acomplished is the education of the guides on the sight seeing automobiles, observation trolley cars and tourist vehicles concerning the wonderfully rich history of San Antonio so they may be able, in a few chosen words they have memorized, to explain the interesting facts about the city's past as they call off the points of interest through the megaphone. A comprenensive description and account has been prepared by Joseph Emerson Smith of the Publicity League which account has been furnished all the professional megaphone-speaking guides in the city.

It is as though the guides were reading an historical work brought up to date and filled with data about the Modern San Antonio.

The following subjects are treated: Climate and weather conditions; The Alamo, short, breezy, historical sketch, Houston Street explaining the erection of skyscraper within the last year and a half; San Fernando Cathedral, historical and a brief acount of the Missions, the plaza and the Courthouse; Military Plaza, historical; the City Hall with a few facts of interest to strangers concerning the city's government; South Flores Street and the United States Arsenal; the Mission Loop and the things to be seen on the twenty-mile trip; Mission Concepcion, Mission San Jose and Mission Espada, with a short sketch of each; Southwestern Insane Asylum, Hot Wells, Brackenridge Park and Fort Sam Houston.

DEVELOPMENT AT CHADBOURN.

New Depot Erected—Drainage District—Other News oNtes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Nov. 10.—The Star's correspondent visited Chadbourn yesterday, and was surprised to see a beautiful new passenger depot erected there, at the intersection of the two roads, both owned by the Coast Line. Hon. J. A. Brown stated to us that this improvement was made without any request from the citizens, and the first intimation they had that their town was to have a new depot was when the hands disembarked from the train and started to work. The superb management of the Coast Line Railway is ever watchful for the comfort and convenience of the public, and for this reason everybody is a friend to that great line.

Your correspondent was driven over the projected new drainage district by Hon. J. A. Brown, and was shown maps of the improvement. There will be about 15 miles of drainage ditches cut, and over seven thousand acres of land dried off. The ditches will average about six feet deep, which will drain the country for many miles around. The cost of drainage will be $4 per acre, and it is confidently predicted that the increased yield of crops the first year will fully repay the entire cost of a farmer permanently drying his lands. It is believed that the establishment of this Chadbourn drainage district will be an object lesson, and before many years every acre of water-soaked land in Columbus county will be surveyed for drying.

But even before drainage, the lands around Chadbourn produce large crops. It is not unusual to see a field that will this year make a bale and a half of cotton per acre, in fact of a short crop. Mr. Brown tells us that on his Sweet farm this Spring he made 35 bushels of wheat per acre. A hundred bushels of corn to the acre is not an unusual crop. Mr. Brown pointed out a 50-acre farm that he paid $250 for and it was considered a high price. He sold it for $1,500, and thought he was robbing the purchaser. Mr. Brown afterwards bought this tract back for $4,000, and then sold again for $5,000. This is only a fair sample of advances in real estate around Chadbourn.

The many friends of Mr. R. E. L. Brown will be delighted to know that he has gained 18 pounds since his residence in Hendersonville, and says he never felt better.

THE COLONEL ABROAD.

What An American Learned of the Impression He Made Abroad.

Apropos Col. Roosevelt's recent very decided rebuff by the American people at the polls, the Star takes the liberty of quoting from a private letter received a few days ago from Mr. William Latimer, who, with Mrs. Latimer, has been spending the past five months abroad and has had an excellent opportunity of getting the European view of men and affairs. In the course of a very interesting letter, which the Star regrets it is not at liberty to publish in full, Mr. Latimer writes:

"In this connection, I find that, as far as I can judge, the educated and cultivated people, on this side of the ocean, do not seem to take our, more or less distinguished former president, the Colonel, very seriously; but look on him and his obiter dicta as the vaporings of a composite Gen. Boom of La Grand Duchesse, Anacharsis Cloats of the First French Revolution and Tartarin of Tarrascon!"

"I have had some opportunity for visiting and coming into contact with such people, both in England and on the Continent, and while, at first, they are either too cautious or too polite to make much comment or criticism of him yet, at the last analysis, that seems to be the general opinion they have of the Colonel. They got a good thing off about him in Paris, just after he had delivered his oration, or sermon, before the French Academy last Spring. One of his Academicians, a grave, learned and world renowned old man, was asked what he thought of Col. Roosevelt's oration? After a pause he gravely replied: "He is like 'the Chanticleer' who dreams that the sun does not rise until He gives it the signal to do so!'"

Mr. and Mrs. Latimer are expected to return to the city this week and the Star hopes to have him write for publication some accounts of his extensive travels and observations while on his trip abroad.

MOUNTAIN APPLES.

(Southern Field.)

More attention is now paid than ever before by North Carolina people to the fruit industry, they are awakening to the full realization of the value of the fruit districts and are buying orchard lands and planting them, while people from other sections are coming into the State to engage in the industry. It is probably true that nowhere in the world can cheaper good orchard lands, land which will pay the highest profit to the grower of high grade fruit, to be found than in the fine fruit regions of North Carolina. There are at present two or three well defined districts where the fruit is being grown to the greatest advantage and in all these districts it is possible to secure well located and well adapted lands for apples at from $10 to $25 an acre.

The Brushy mountains, in fact this whole mountain section, embraces one of the finest of the Appalachian apple districts and grows large crops of the finest of apples. The winesap, the Jonathan, Grimes, Newton Pippin, Hoover Dula Beauty, and other varieties are grown. An orchard man at Taylorsville has estimated that a 20-acre orchard of 400 trees may be planted and brought to the bearing age for $775, including the cost of the land at $15 an acre. Some very large yields are reported from this district and it is known that some orchards have reached the century limit.

IN MEMORIAM.

In the early dawn of Nov. 10th, the pure spirit of Mary Bridgers was borne in the "Everlasting Arms" to that new and beautiful home prepared for her by Heavenly hands, where the "Sun of Righteousness" was already shedding His beams in the "New Jerusalem" of that "Great Beyond."

As her gentle spirit bade adieu to its earthly habitation and sped its flight from earth to Paradise, it seemed to leave a lingering smile, for those who love her so dearly, upon her guileless lips—those dear lips, now so silent, that have ever been ready to give a loving welcome or a word of counsel and encouragement to all. Truly from her heart or mouth proceeds no evil thought or word of bitterness but "Holiness Unto the Lord." Harmony, truth and loving kindness were the virtues that were her constant thought and the "daily bread" upon which she lived.

Lovely and good from her birth, with a gentle demeanor and docile nature in her childhood and girlhood, she budded into young womanhood with all the rare graces that can adorn her sex. To know her was truly to love her, for though of the earth, she seemed almost as one unearthly.

Trained in childhood by loving teachers, whose privilege it was, she was ever loyal to them and to the memory of those days, seeking in her womanhood to be a comfort and pleasure to them in their declining years, which mission she faithfully fulfilled, as she did all others.

Baptized and confirmed in St. James', for years she gave most untiring service to the church she loved so well, and when in later womanhood she embraced Christian Science, she was equally true to her convictions, acting upon them to the end of her earthly life.

Possessing that "most excellent gift of charity, the very bond of peace and of all virtues, without which whosoever liveth is counted dead before God," nothing was ever beyond her forbearance or forgiveness.

May that mantle have fallen upon those she loves that we on that great "Resurrection Morn" may stand with her face to face before our Maker, having "a conscience void of offence toward God and man!" "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; even so saith the Spirit."

Good Looking Brides Wanted.

Shortly after an angry looking couple flounced out of the chapel the pastor of an uptown church presented a perplexed countenance before the busy sexton.

"As you know," said he, "I am new in this parish and new in the city. Perhaps there are a few things I ought to know. Why, for instance, do so many people who never attend service in this church wish to be married here?"

"Because our church," said the sexton, "has the name of turning out the youngest and handsomest brides in New York. Our reputation for good works is dwarfed by our reputation for beautiful brides. To say that a woman is married here is equivalent to saying that she is a 'good looker.' We are not supposed to deal in brides of any other description."

"No wonder," groaned the pastor, "that that plain looking woman went away in a huff. I earnestly advised her to be married in her own parish."—New York Globe.

PHILIP LLOYD, GRANDSON OF MRS. JONES

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"I wish to thank you for the sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. My little grandson, Philip Lloyd, had suffered from stomach trouble; when I sent for the bottle of Syrup Pepsin he was suffering all the time and had an acute attack of gastritis. I gave him the medicine, which he said was 'nice,' (he is six years old) and by the time the bottle was empty, he was cured. I was so pleased that I want to tell you what a valuable remedy you have made."—A Dr.'s Widow, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Jones, 4126 Perry St., Chicago, Ill.

"I liked the sample of Syrup Pepsin so much that I sent at once to my druggist for two 50c bottles, so I have it in the house regularly. My children like to take it, which pleased me very much, as sometimes we have trouble in getting them to take other laxatives."—Chas. H. Reichert, 3161 Jamaica Ave., Richmond Hill, L. I.

"We have received your sample bottle which you sent upon request. I have never had anything in a medicine form that has accomplished anything like yours has. It is simply great. I have already used two bottles of the 50c size after the arrival and using of your sample."—Mrs. Katherine Haberstroh, McKees Rocks, Pa.

There are literally thousands of women in this country who gratefully acknowledge that they owe the present good health of their children to the timely use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The crying baby usually is constipated or suffers from intestinal trouble due to some error in diet. It needs no heroic measures—just a gentle laxative like Syrup Pepsin. A small dose of it will right the baby. It is a great laxative and digestant, pleasant-tasting and non-griping. No baby or child refuses it. Many mothers never give their children anything else, and they have robust children and no doctor's bills. It is a great money saver as well as a great life saver. If space permitted, thousands of women's addresses could be given who write they will never be without Syrup Pepsin in the house. It is for all the family—for anyone who realizes that salts and strong cathartics are only temporary expedients. You can buy a bottle of your favorite druggist at fifty cents and one dollar, or if you wish to make a trial of it first, you can obtain a free sample bottle from Dr. Caldwell by sending him your name and address.

He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample, address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

MRS. J. E. KENNEDY'S BABY

"I attribute much of my own present good health, and surely that of my baby, to the use of Syrup Pepsin. I always have it in the house, as it is so often needed, and I could not exaggerate its value to me."—Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, Good Will, Okla.

"I received your sample bottle of Syrup Pepsin and also bought a 50c bottle. It is the finest remedy I ever bought for constipation for children. I am very much pleased with it."—Mrs. Ella N. Williams, Wathena, Kas.

"I received your sample bottle, used it, and got a 50c bottle and find it is the best thing I could get. My baby was troubled with constipation and I now have no trouble."—Mrs. Toomey, Emingsville, Pa.

"About two years ago I sent to you for a sample bottle of your Syrup Pepsin. After taking it I concluded to give the remedy a fair trial, for I had been suffering for some time with indigestion. My stomach would ache so badly at times that I could not be still. I commenced taking your Syrup Pepsin and found it to be a good remedy. I can eat anything I want now. I have found it to be a good remedy for children. Now I keep a bottle on my mantle all the time."—Mrs. Ida A. Fortune, Grand Junction, Tenn.

The Only Keeley Institute In North Carolina

If you haven't been interested in what I have had to say about the Keeley Institute at Greensboro perhaps it is because you know of some so-called "drink cure" that has failed to make good its claims. And so you confuse this other treatment with ours and blame us for the failure. There are a number of "sanitariums" and "institutions" in different parts of the country that seek to trade on the reputation of the famous Keeley Institute. And they try to give the impression that their treatment is the same as the specific discovered by the late Dr. Keeley.

Let me do away with any misunderstanding once and for all—and say with all possible emphasis, that there is only one institute in North Carolina where the Keeley treatment is administered—and that is the Keeley Institute at Greensboro.

Moreover, there isn't a part of the country better situated for such a sanitarium than Greensboro.

Its high elevation, equable temperature and healthy climate make it a perfect health resort in every season. Over one hundred miles of graded and macadamized roadways leading from the city in all directions give facility and pleasure to riding, driving and motoring.

The Institute itself is centrally located in Greensboro, accessible to railroad station, post-office and business section, yet surrounded with large grounds covered with trees and shrubs that give it privacy and seclusion.

Whether you are interested in the Keeley Treatment for yourself or someone else, write to me for booklets describing the Institute and our treatment. Your letter will be treated in strictest confidence.
